FIGHT FOR THE RIBBONS KEEN

Entries in General Purpose And Light Harness Classes at Horse
Show Above Average.

CROWDS THROUGH THE STREETS

Glare of Red Fire and Automobile
Parade Will Close Event Tonight
—$70 in Prizes.

The fifth annual horse show, the
most successful one ever held here,
will be closed tonight with the glare
of red fire reflecting on decorated
automobiles which will compete for
the seventy dollars in prize money
which has been hung up for the three
best decorated machines.

The automobile parade last year
was such a pronounced success that
it was decided to close the show this year the same way. The parade will be formed at the corner of Perkins
and Seventh streets, and will move
down Main street and around
through the business district. Last year the parade attracted the largest
crowd that has ever gathered on the streets here in many years.

People thronged the streets here
today to witness the showing of the general purpose and light harness
classes. Horsemen were unanimous
in the belief that never in the history
of Rush county had such a collection
of horses ever been gathered together.
The quality and number of entries in most of the light harness and general purpose classes caused the competition to be keener this year than ever before. The entries in the light
harness class this year did not excel
those in the general purpose class so
much as they have in the past.

The general purpose showing
brought out the best bunch of horses
ever seen here. In show number 55,
general purpose geldings four years old and over, the competition was especially warm. There were thirteen horses entered, and very one of them
appeared to be as fine an animal as ever trod the earth. It required some time for the judge to pick the winning animal. The horses all showed
to excellent advantage, every outfit
being spic and span.

The driving contest in the light
harness class this afternoon excited
as much comment and interest as it always does. Practically the same
outfits were entered in each showing,
but in one a woman handled the reins,
and in another a man was the driver.

The pony show last night attracted
a large crowd down town. The Arlington and Rushville bands combined
as one, lead the miniature horses and
their drivers up Main street to the
C. H. & D. railroad and back before
the show was started.

O. M. Hodgen of Henry county,
and Robert Longfellow and R. B.
Cook were among the biggest prize
winners yesterday. Mr. Longfellow
made a showing at one o'clock today
of all the horses he has entered in the show. They made a string a block long when lined up side by side.

The prizes for the best decorated
stallion will be awarded tonight.

It will be noted in the list of horse
show awards following that in some cases only one premium was awarded. This was due to the fact that there were three entries to fill, which
the rules of the show requires. In these cases the persons who had brought the horses here paid the additional entrance fees and were given
the prize. The awards follow:

Class 1, Heavy Draft Horses.

Best Draft Stallion, 4 years old or over, 1st—William Furry; 2d—Elmer Gibson.

Best Draft Stallion, 3 years old

REVIVAL BEGINS OCT. 29

Dr. Chas. T. Wheeler to Conduct Campaign at Glenwood.

Immediately following the meetings
now in progress in Rushville, Carthage and Milroy, Dr. Chas. T.
Wheeler, now in charge of the Milroy
revival, will hold a similar campaign
in Glenwood. This is a part of the county wide movement and Glenwood
is to be congratulated on getting Dr.
Wheeler for their evangelist. The meetings will begin on Tuesday evening, October 29. The entire community will be asked to co-operate in the movement.

FARM HOUSE NEAR MANILLA BURNS

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Underwood, on Alexander Solomon
Farm, is Razed.

BLAZE STARTS IN ATTIC

The beautiful country residence,
the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Underwood, one and one-half miles east of Manilla, was burned to the ground between the hours yesterday
of eight and nine.

The cause of the fire is unknown,
the blaze originated in the attic. The only reason that can be assigned for
the starting of the conflagration was
that rats or mice might have carried
matches to the upper rooms.

As soon as the fire was discovered
many of the neighbors hastened to
the scene and by their efforts saved
nearly all the contents of the house,
their attention being turned to the
work of removing the furnishings after it was plainly seen that it would
be impossible to save the building.

The dwelling is located on the farm of Alexander Solomon and as to whether or not insurance was carried on the building could not be learned.

FINDS A PIECE OF MASTODON'S GUM

John Stoten Makes Discovery Similar to Recent One in N. P. Jones'
Gravel Pit in Center.

BIG MASS OF PETRIFIED GUM

John Stoten of Center township
has found another piece of the mouth of a mastodon, parts of which
were found by workmen in the N.
P. Jones gravel pit in Center township a few weeks ago. He made this discovery in the same place. The piece of the mouth found by Mr.
Stoten appears to be the upper right
jaw, judging from the location
of a portion of the nostril which was found attached. The teeth are in good shape and the large portion of
the petrified gum attached would fill
a bushel basket.

The opinion was advanced when
the first pieces were found that they
were about thirty-five feet under the ground. Mr. Stoten takes issue with this opinion. The gravel in a pit is always worked from the bottom and
then is allowed to cave in. Mr. Stoten
says that these parts of the prehistoric animal might have been near
the surface and caved in with the gravel. The find is on exhibition in Bliss & Cowing's shoe store window.

WAS ATTENDING
BOARD MEETING

Joe Cowing Present When Message
From Governor Names East Ha-

Board Had Been Inspecting Tract
Selected For Farm When Marshall Wired Decision.

Joe Cowing returned yesterday
from what was probably the most important meeting of the board of trustees of the Eastern Hospital for
the Insane near Richmond, of which
he is a member, that was ever held.
While in session, the board received
a message from Gov. Marshall signifying that East Haven had been selected as the insane hospital at which
the Indiana colony system for treating insane patients would be tried
out.

The last legislature appropriated
$75,000 for the establishment of a colony at one of the State institutions, the governor to be allowed to designate which one. It was felt that East Haven would be selected, Mr.
Cowing says, because Dr. S. E.
Smith, medical superintendent of East Haven, is the father of the plan.

This is not the first attempt Dr.
Smith has made to get an appropriation to finance and try out his idea. The legislature before the last one was asked by Dr. Smith to make an appropriation to establish a colony at East Haven. The appropriation was refused on the ground that it should not be made specific for
any one institution. The last legislature was asked to make the appropriation to experiment with the colony plan at any one of the State
hospitals, and at the same time it
was pretty generally understood that
Gov. Marshall would select the one
at Richmond.

In view of this fact the board had already retained options on a large
body of land two miles from the site
of the hospital at from $130 to $150
an acre with a view of being prepared when Gov. Marshall made public his intention of selecting East Haven to try the colony plan. The board had just been inspecting the
tract of land when the message was received from Gov. Marshall. Besides Mr. Cowing of this city, the other members of the board are Merideth Nicholson, the novelist, of
Indianapolis, John Hannan of La-Grange and John Dentamore of Portland.

The land may not be adjacent to the present hospital farm. Such
close proximity is not to be desired,
and would hinder in a degree one of
the good results hoped to be attain-
ed. The transfer of patients to a point away and apart from the institution will, of itself, be an element in bringing about an improved condition of these unfortunates.

The plan as proposed contem-
plates the colonizing of men patients
at this time probably from ten to twenty-five in a group. The land
will be of the kind that will be adapted to general farming and these colonies distributed about the farm will
have certain tracts under their care.
The farm buildings will be of simple
construction, but fully suited to the needs of the patients and thereby
they will remain under the influences
of pleasant work and healthful environment. The farm is not only to be self-sustaining, but its surplus of products will go to the Eastern Insane hospital.

The beneficial effects to the patients themselves was not all that recommended the farm plan, for by taking from the hospital proper con-

HORSEMAN IS KICKED TWICE

Horace Jackson, Henry County, is Severely Injured by Enraged
Animal, Receiving Two Blows.

USES WHIP ONCE TOO OFTEN

Wound on Arm Requires Six Stitches
—Will be Removed to His Home
Tomorrow.

Horace Jackson, 30 years old, of Wilkinson, Henry county, was severely injured this morning by being kicked by an enraged horse. Jackson was kicked twice, the first blow
cutting a deep gash on his arm and the second landing in the pit of his stomach. The accident occurred at the livery
barn in East First street, next
to the mill race, and was Jackson's
fault to a large extent.

The injured man is here with O.
M. Hodgen of Knightstown, who has a large string of horses for the horse show. He went in the stall
to look after the animal and when it became unmanageable, applied the whip just once too often. The horse
fought back and Jackson caught it
on the arm. He kept after the horse, however, and took the count
when both the horses feet landed on
his abdomen.

Jackson was removed to the Grand
hotel where his injuries were treated.
Six stitches were required for the wound on his arm. He was rendered unconscious by the blow to his
stomach but the attending physician
states that he is not hurt internally.
Following the accident he suffered a severe nervous shock and will probably be removed home tomorrow.

The enraged horse would probably
have done greater injury to Jackson
if other stable attendants had not come to the rescue. O. M. Hodgen, Jackson's employee, was one of the
largest winners at the show yesterday. A rumor was current in Knightstown this morning that Mr.
Hodgen had been shot and killed.
This probably grew out of the accident to Jackson.

BIG MEETING AT MILROY TONIGHT

A. J. Ross Delivers Rousing Republican Speech at New Salem to a Crowded House.

DRUM CORPS TO GO TO MILROY

A. J. Ross of Andersonville delivered a rousing Republican speech in
New Salem last night. It is reported that at least six hundred people
heard him. At least nearly every person who could crowd into the auditorium at the New Salem high school building was present to hear
him discuss the political issues of the
day. Every seat was taken and many
stood throughout the speech. W. R.
Jinnet and Channcey Duncan both made brief appeals to the voters and
several of the county candidates announced themselves.

What will probably be the biggest
of the week will be the speaking at Milroy tonight. Richard Langford
of Platte, Neb., will speak. He is a gifted orator who is so capable that he is in great demand in the larger cities. Mr. Langford was expected to arrive here at 3:26 this afternoon.
The Rushville drum corps will go to Milroy for the meeting. A number of local Republicans are planning to go
in automobiles.

BUNCH SOLD OUT FAST

Carey Patton Has 43 Out of 300
Cattle Left.

Carey Patton, of the Milroy vicinity, is not only a big and successful
farmer, but he is also a hustler, and
a man that does things says the Greensburg News. Recently he purchased three hundred head of feeders from the Louisville market and in
ten freight cars had them removed
to his farm. They had hardly eaten
their breakfast until he had turned
them into money again and at a decided profit. Today he now has only forty-three head of the original three hundred left.

SMALL BOY RUN DOWN BY A PONY

Pleas Miller, Jr., Son of Mr. and Mrs.
Tom Miller, Painfully Hurt
Last Night.

Pleas Miller, Jr., aged two years
and eleven months, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Miller, living south of the city, was run down by a pony driven
by Mary Louise Bliss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Bliss, during the pony show in East Second street last night. The little boy sustained a painful gash on his lower lip, and
lost considerable blood, but he was
soon revived after the accident, and
will not suffer any evil effects from
it. The child was standing by his mother's side watching the pony
show, when he espied his father
across the street. Thoughtless of any danger, he dashed across the street
before his mother was aware he was
gone, and he ran directly in the path
of the little pony driven by Mary Louise Bliss. The accident was no fault of the driver as she had no time
to pull up.

"CHUCK" BARTLETT
FACES 3 CHARGES

Milroy Man Gets Drunk and Leaves
Horse Hitched in Alley For 15 Hours.

TWO OTHERS ARE ARRESTED

John Rollins of Carthage was fined
one dollar and costs in police court
yesterday afternoon by Mayor Black,
for intoxication. His fine was stayed.
Rollins was run in by special officer
Wilbur Hall.

"Chuck" Bartlett of Milroy was found in an intoxicated condition this morning and arrested. He will probably be tried Friday morning. Outside of a few drunks the police have
had little trouble from the horse show crowd.

The police have three charges
against Bartlett and he may have to face all three. The officers claim he
back of the Price saloon from 9
o'clock yesterday morning until it
was put in a stable by the police,
which was about 11 o'clock last night. Besides the intoxication
charge, one for cruelty to animals
and hitching in an alley may be preferred against him.

Emanuel Dunwoody was found
down and out in the alley back of the Portola. Dunwoody was too intoxicated to get up and will explain to Mayor Black in the morning.

SOME PREACHERS
GET COLD FEET

Biederwolf Says There Are Pastors
Extant Who Are Afraid to Preach Truth.

CITES CHRIST AS AN EXAMPLE

Services Begin at 8 Tonight to Allow Crowds Seeing Automobile Parade to Attend.

* Solo—Mrs. McDaniel. *
* Duet—Mr. Heaton and Mr. Mc- *
* Ewan. *
* Solo—B. F. Miller. *
* Male Quartette. *
* Solo—Mr. McEwan. *

The services at the tabernacle will
not begin until eight o'clock tonight
so as to allow people who would like
to attend to see the automobile parade. Dr. Biederwolf will preach tonight on "Atonement." A special
musical program will be given.

Last night Dr. Biederwolf pointed out that life is not what people generally expect it to be wealth and fame. He severely arraigned the parents who allow their sons to have
a night key or fix the lock so they
can come in any time in the night,
characterizing such conduct as "encouraging your boy to take his first
step to hell."

In so many words Dr. Biederwolf
cautioned the young people not to be attracted by the gay white lights. He said young people are led away by
wordly pleasures and think it is life,
but God says, he pointed out, that it
is death.

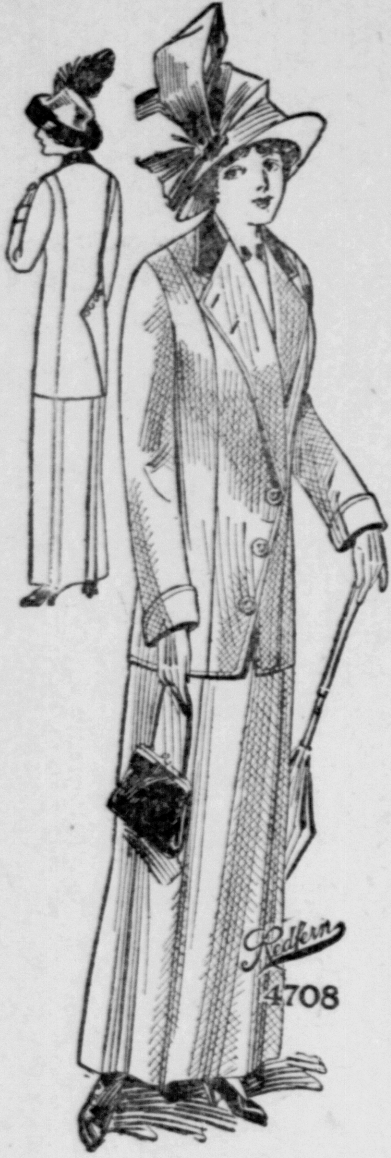

The evangelist criticized ministers
who are afraid to preach the truth,
citing as an example one of Christ's
sermons in which he preached nothing but truth. He said Christ did
not review the latest novel or open
up with a lot of glittering generalities or rhetorical niceties. He declared that many a minister went in-
to the pulpit to preach the truth when
some old "society dame" who runs
the church comes in, sits down on the
front seat and the preacher gets cold
feet and leaves that part of the sermon out.

Dr. Biederwolf said in part last
night:

"I want to speak to you tonight
from the 10th verse of the 10th
chapter of John, 'I am come that ye
might have life.' There is another verse in John's gospel that would serve just as well for a text to this sermon. It is John 5:40, 'And Ye
Will Not Come unto me that ye might
have life.'"

"Nothing is plainer from the teaching of Jesus Christ than this—
that He associated the gift of life
with Himself and His own mission
into the world. He preached one day
to a woman at the well of Samaria—
and, by the way, it wasn't a sermon-
ette He preached. He didn't review
the latest novel or open up a lot of glittering generalities and rhetorical
niceties, vague and oftentimes meaningless, and usually of no more consequence than the inscription on Pickwick's marvelous stone.

"He spoke plain to her. He said,
'You're an adulteress—you've had
five husbands already,' and she stood up and took notice. The world
is going to perdition for the want of
plain preaching. What the pulpit
wants is Nathans who are not afraid
to rebuke sin though it sits in high places and walks in furred robes or satin gowns. But there are too many sail trimmers preaching today who
think more of expediency than they do of truth. And then there's many
a minister who goes into the pulpit

"LET MY PEOPLE GO."

The Indianapolis World, one of the strongest Negro newspapers of the country, appeals to the colored race to remain true to Republican principles in an inspired editorial, "Let My People Go," and says:

"The Progressive party with outstretched arms bids welcome to the Negro voters into its ranks. This party, in so far as its leadership is concerned, is composed mainly of disappointed office seekers and defeated candidates. They have a grievance. They ask the Negro voter to assist them in redressing their grievances. They ask the Negro to desert the Republican party and join them in the trade of abuse against that great party. The leaders of the Progressive party know that under the policies of their party—the deliverance of the Negro from the things complained of—is an utter impossibility, and only false hopes and inspirations are offered him. We insist that the leadership of this Progressive party, which has so convulsed the nation and disturbed the peaceful relations between men—should 'let my people go.'"

"And as Pharaoh, Egypt's ancient king, refused to hear the voice which said, 'Let my people go,' and went to his downfall and doom—so every influence since then that has attempted to take advantage of the weak and the poor has sooner or later gone upon the rocks. The just God who says 'let my people go' is against any and all efforts of the Progressive party which encourages the Negro voter to desert the Republican party. The white man and the colored man, by their tears and trials and blood wrung from mitered tyrants and crowned slave despots the priceless heritage of liberty. There are thousands of Negroes living today who fought for the flag and for its synonym—the Republican party—when the men now traducing them were in their cradles. The Negroes who have identified themselves with the Progressive party, which is only a Democratic aid society, will live to see the day when they will regret their action."

ON A RICKETY PLATFORM.

Democratic speakers are having a hard struggle with the State platform, that meaningless collection of generalities drawn by and for the corporations. Mr. Ralston was the first to enlist in a praiseworthy but futile effort to amend it and Gov. Marshall, in his South Bend speech, endeavored to do the same thing. He declared that he has always stood for a "workman's compensation act" and that he also favors the enlargement of the powers of the state railroad commission "so as to give it control of all public utilities." Incidentally these were among the recommendations which Gov. Marshall made to the resolutions committee of the Democratic State convention, recommendations which in their entirety were so significantly ignored by the makers of the platform.

REPUBLICAN TARIFF PLATFORM

Tariff Should be Revised, But Only After Close Study of Conditions Have Been Made.

The Republican platform says on the tariff question, the chief question in the campaign:

"We reaffirm our belief in a protective tariff. The Republican tariff policy has been of the greatest benefit to the country, developing our resources, diversifying our industries and protecting our workmen against competition with cheaper labor abroad, thus establishing for our wage-earners the American standard of living. The protective tariff is so woven into the fabric of our industrial and agricultural life that to substitute for it a tariff for revenue only would destroy many industries and throw millions of our people out of employment. The products of the farm and of the mine should receive the same measure of protection as other products of American labor."

"We hold that the import duties should be high enough while yielding a sufficient revenue to protect adequately American industries and wages. Some of the existing import duties are too high, and should be reduced. Readjustment should be made from time to time to conform to changed conditions and to reduce excessive rates, but without injury to any American industry. To accomplish this correct information is indispensable. This information can best be obtained by an expert commission, as the large volume of useful facts contained in the recent reports of the tariff board has demonstrated the pronounced feature of modern industrial life is its enormous diversifications. To apply tariff rates justly to these changing conditions requires closer study and more scientific methods than ever before. The Republican party has shown by its creation of a tariff board its recognition of this situation and its determination to be equal to it. We condemn the Democratic party for its failure either to provide funds for the continuance of this board or to make some other provision for securing the information requisite for intelligent tariff legislation. We protest against the Democratic method of legislating on these vitally important subjects without careful investigation."

"We condemn the Democratic tariff bills passed by the House of Representatives of the Sixty-second Congress, as sectional, as injurious to the public credit and as destructive of business enterprise."

"The steadily increasing cost of living has become a matter not only of national, but of world-wide concern. The fact that it is not due to the protective tariff system is evidenced by the existence of similar conditions in countries which have a tariff policy different from our own, as well as by the fact that the cost of living has increased, while rates of duty have remained stationary or been reduced."

COL. ROOSEVELT OUT OF DANGER

Surgeons Have Nothing But Good Reports.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IN CHARGE

Upon Arriving at the Hospital in Chicago Where Her Distinguished Husband Is Recovering From Shock of Crank's Murderous Shot, Wife of ex-President Immediately Excluded Visitors and Took Charge of Patient.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Such steady gain is being made by Colonel Roosevelt that the attending surgeons are more hopeful for his recovery than they have been at any time since he was shot last Monday night by John Schrank, a New York crank, who had followed the colonel to Milwaukee and there shot him in the breast as he was leaving his hotel to go to a theater to make a speech.

In an examination made at Mercy hospital the colonel's pulse and respiration were shown to be nearly normal, the general condition good and the patient cheerful and resting well. That the surgeons themselves are more cheerful than they have been is shown in a bit of repartee while the colonel was being examined. As he was being rolled over the colonel exclaimed with a grin: "I move with greater agility than I have for a couple of days."

"We are breathing more easily, too," came the quick reply from Dr. J. B. Murphy.

The surgeons have made known the result of the last X-ray examination. The pictures showed the ball lodged up against the fourth rib. It could not be determined by the doctors in this picture whether the rib had been splintered or not. In fact, there was a division of opinion of the medical men in this particular.

The surgeons also expressed the belief that tomorrow will settle definitely whether the bullet fired by Schrank will cause trouble. If there are no symptoms of blood poisoning by that time the surgeons believe that nature will segregate the ball from the adjoining tissues and that there will be no danger from blood poisoning. In which event in all probability the bullet will never be extracted.

Mrs. Roosevelt's first move after her arrival here was to decree that the colonel must see no visitors except the members of his family. Once or twice she has made exceptions, but otherwise she has adhered firmly to her resolution. The colonel was "feeling fine" and ready to receive visitors, but Mrs. Roosevelt gave him no opportunity to pass upon her ruling, for she made it on her own authority and saw to it that it was enforced.

She received the cards and messages for her husband and sent back her replies, with the result that the colonel himself did not know who wished to see him.

There is little in the appearance of the patient to indicate he is not in his usual health.

When Mrs. Roosevelt reached the hospital the colonel greeted his wife with a ray "Hello." After greeting the children the colonel again reassured the whole family by having read the last of the bulletins of the surgeons.

The husband and father then attempted to tell the family just "how it happened," but a warning came through the door from one of the doctors that the patient must not excite himself unnecessarily, and the talk was limited to family circle happenings. With the exception of Mrs. Roosevelt the other members of the family presently left the hospital. They will stay with friends in the immediate vicinity of the hospital. A room has been provided for Mrs. Roosevelt in the hospital adjoining that in which the colonel lies.

ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE

Was Conveyed to People by Beveridge in Louisville Speech.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—For over an hour ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana reviewed the life of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, chieftain of the Progressive party, before 5,000 auditors last night at Phoenix hall.

The ex-senator brought from the wounded leader a message to the people of the country, in which he said that it mattered little whether he survived or fell, that the cause was still there, and in the event that one standard bearer fell by the wayside, the others would take his place until the victory had been won.

A SPECIAL GUARD

Will Be Provided For Wilson on His Pittsburgh Visit.

Pittsburg, Oct. 17.—Governor Woodrow Wilson will have a bodyguard in Pittsburg such as was never accorded another visitor by the police of this city. When the Democratic presidential nominee arrives at the union depot he will be met by "Fighting Eddie" McGough and a special gun squad of twenty men whose marks at the pistol range each day have put them in the sharpshooters' class. The squad will escort Wilson on all his journeys about Pittsburg, and will be on the stage at Duquesne Garden, where Wilson speaks tomorrow night.

JOSEPH A. WALKER.

Nominated by Massachusetts G. O. P. to Fight Governor Foss.

DEFENDANT WOULDN'T FACE MRS. ROSENTHAL

Becker's Eyes Fell Before Widow of Alleged Victim.

New York, Oct. 17.—In the trial of Lieutenant Becker there was an episode that will hardly be forgotten by those who took part in it and those who looked and listened. This was when Mrs. Lillian Rosenthal, widow of the murdered gambler, looked steadily at Becker and swore that she was present when Becker in the Elks club a few months before the murder, put his arm around her husband's shoulder and said: "Cheer up. Everything will be all right."

The jurors, who had been following every word of Mrs. Rosenthal's composed but earnest story, were on tip-toe as they leaned toward the witness. Several turned their heads and watched Becker's face as Mrs. Rosenthal went on with her testimony about the raid that the lieutenant made on the gambling house and the reply he made to her surprised questions as to what it all meant, said, "It had to be Herman or me. Tell Herman he don't owe me anything. Tell him to go down and see that man and tell him we are square."

For the first time since the trial opened, Lieutenant Becker's eyes roved from a witness. He looked toward the ceiling or at the table in front of him, and when Mrs. Rosenthal at times turned from the jurors to fix her eyes on him he looked away. The muscles of his throat were moving as if he was swallowing hard. And when Mr. McIntyre, a little later, would have persisted with the cross-examination of Mrs. Rosenthal, Becker ordered his lawyer to stop.

"Let her go," he whispered, audibly. With the testimony of Mrs. Rosenthal and with the testimony of numerous disinterested witnesses that Becker and Rose, in the months before the murder, met frequently at Rose's house, at the Union Square hotel, and at Luchow's restaurant, and that Becker was in communication with Rose after the murder, the state approached the completion of its case.

Highway Robber Sentenced.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 17.—Glen Savage, aged twenty-six, of this city, recently found guilty of highway robbery at Alexandria, was sentenced to five to fourteen years at the state prison.

Mr. Jas. V. Churchill, 90 Wall St., Auburn, N. Y., has been bothered with serious kidney and bladder trouble ever since he left the army, and says: "I decided to try Foley Kidney Pills as they had cured so many people and I soon found they were just the thing. My kidneys and bladder are again in a healthy condition. I gladly recommend them. F. B. Johnson & Co. (Advertisement.)"

Mrs. Peter Holan, 11501 Buckeye Rd., Cleveland, O., says: "Yes, indeed I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. My little boy had a bad case of whooping cough, sometimes he was blue in the face. I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and it had a remarkable effect and cured him in a short time." THE DANGER THAT WAS ESCAPED

WHAT WOULD HAVE HAPPENED IF DEMOCRATIC TARIFF BILLS HAD NOT BEEN VETOED.

FACTORIES WOULD BE CLOSED

The Disaster Which Threatened One County in Connecticut Would Have Been Experienced in Almost Every County in the United States.

Congressman E. J. Hill is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, tariff experts in the United States. He represents Fairfield county, Connecticut, in congress, and he has recently published a startling document in which he shows the effect the Democratic tariff bills passed during the recent session of congress and vetoed by President Taft, would have had upon these industries if enacted into a law. He lists the factories in alphabetical order and shows in connection with each one just the percentage of reduction in the duty upon the article which it manufactures. The showing fills four pages of a newspaper and it has not only awakened Connecticut to a shuddering realization of the danger it has escaped, but it has aroused all New England to the menace of a Democratic victory.

Mr. Hill shows beyond question that if these Democratic bills had passed practically every industry in his district and in the entire state of Connecticut would have been put upon a free trade basis and a very large proportion of them would have been obliged to close their doors. Manufacturers from all over the country who have seen this exhibit are writing to Mr. Hill to thank him for making it and to tell him that they had no idea how near to extinction they had been. They had not realized the deadly menace to their industries which was hidden in the Democratic tariff bills and they had not realized the immeasurable debt they owe to President Taft for vetoing it. One correspondent from Delaware writes that Congressman Hill's disclosures had "set the state on fire," and that is hardly too strong a term to use to describe the intense interest aroused.

Another article which has recently appeared and which has produced almost as startling an effect upon those to whom it was immediately addressed as that of Congressman Hill, is an editorial in the "American Sheep Breeder." This editorial calls attention to the fact that neither Colonel Roosevelt nor Professor Wilson made any reply whatever when asked what their attitude would be on the question of protection to the wool industry, while President Taft answered by wire, calling attention to his veto of the wool bill and the expression of opinion which he gave in that veto.

The editorial very properly draws the inference from the silence of the Bull Moose and Democratic candidates that the wool industry need not hope for any consideration at their hands, and it quotes the message of President Taft to show that he realizes the absolute necessity of protection in order that the industry may prosper, and that so long as he is in the White House no free wool bill can become a law.

The "American Sheep Breeder" goes to many thousand men engaged in the sheep industry and it is not in any sense a political newspaper. It is devoted to the interests of the sheep industry, however, and its expression of editorial opinion that President Taft and the Republican party alone can be trusted to safeguard that industry, can hardly fail to concentrate upon the Republican ticket the vote of all those vitally interested in that industry.

The Democratic managers realize the deep-seated distrust toward their party which exists on account of its attitude on the tariff question and are trying desperately to make it appear that the tariff plank in their platform does not really mean so very much. They plead that the Democratic program would be to reduce the tariff gradually so as not to disturb business, with the idea that ultimately the country could reach a free trade basis by easy stages—which is like the old story about gradually reducing the feed which is given to your horse until by dint of habit he learns to do without any feed at all.

But the country will not be deceived. The country knows perfectly well that Democratic victory would mean a long period of tariff agitation with nothing certain except that in the end bills would be passed under which there would inevitably be enormous importations of foreign products with corresponding contraction and stagnation of domestic trade and manufacture. The country did not fail to take note of the tariff revision bills passed by the present Democratic congress under the boast that they did not contain a line of protection. The country knows that but for the courageous vetoes of President Taft these ruinous Democratic measures would now be on the statute books and in all probability the industries affected by them would be languishing and thousands of men out of work.

It is the knowledge of these facts that is responsible for the strong and steady drift toward Taft that is reported from all sections of the country and that is the forecast of a sweeping Republican victory.

ROOSEVELT NOT A GOOD VOTE-GETTER

HIS POPULARITY NOT SHOWN BY THE VOTES HE HAS RECEIVED.

In New York When He Ran for Governor He Did Not Get Full Party Support—Presidential Vote When Analyzed Is Not to His Advantage.

Colonel Roosevelt is regarded everywhere as a marvelous vote-getter. "We are for Teddy because he will elect our county ticket," chorused the Roosevelt shouters prior to the re-nomination of President Taft. And even now, when, having failed to get the Republican nomination for a third term, he is heading a bolting Third Party organization, there are many Republicans who seem to think that he has a strong hold upon the people. The fact is the record shows that he is not a successful vote getter. The belief which prevails in some parts of the country that Roosevelt has a magic hold upon the people is not supported by the facts. Mr. Roosevelt's own activity in self-advertising is largely responsible for the belief.

Take, for instance, his home state of New York. Here are the figures of the Republican vote cast in the three elections of 1896, 1898 and 1900, the two years before and the two years after Roosevelt was a candidate for governor:

1896, Black	787,516
1898, Roosevelt	661,707
1900, Odell	804,859

When Roosevelt ran as a candidate for governor he had behind him his prestige of service in the war with Spain. He made a spectacular campaign with a number of uniformed soldiers riding with him upon the rear platform of his special train. Even with this advantage he polled 125,000 less votes than Black and nearly 145,000 less votes than Odell. This shows that in his own state he is not the vote-getter which he claims to be.

Polled Less Votes Than Taft.

Colonel Roosevelt received an enormous plurality when he ran for president in 1904, but that was because 1,280,000 Democrats declined to vote for Judge Alton B. Parker. The real test of Roosevelt's plurality is the number of Republican votes cast for him. He polled 7,623,486 votes, but even this number was 55,000 less than were cast for Taft in 1908 with Bryan in the field and practical Democratic harmony restored. Do these figures show Roosevelt to be a great vote getter?

The figures as to Illinois are also interesting and instructive. In 1904 the total Republican vote for Roosevelt was 632,645, but this was 1,384 less than were cast for Charles S. Deneen for governor. Roosevelt was supposedly the idol of the Republican party while Governor Deneen's nomination was secured at the end of a three weeks' convention in which bitter factional fighting developed. Yet Deneen, as stated, received 1,384 more votes for Roosevelt.

An attempt is made to demonstrate Colonel Roosevelt's popularity by citing the fact that his plurality in Illinois in 1904 was 305,000, while Taft's was only 179,000 in 1908. The fact is that in 1904 Roosevelt received 632,645 votes. In 1908 Taft received 629,529 votes, so that out of about 630,000 votes the only difference between Roosevelt's popularity and Taft's popularity as shown by the total Republican vote was 2,713.

Illinois is cited merely because it is typical of other states.

Some Primary Figures.

As Republican candidate for president last spring, Colonel Roosevelt polled 61 per cent of the total vote cast at the Illinois primaries, but only 42.37 per cent of the Taft 1908 vote. A majority of the Republicans of Illinois have not expressed a preference for Colonel Roosevelt for president. In a recent statement Colonel Roosevelt said: "The primary in Illinois last spring definitely decided that I was the choice of the Illinois Republican voters for president." Colonel Roosevelt should be informed that 42.37 per cent of the Republican vote in Illinois does not decide what 57.63 per cent shall do with a bolter who denounced their party because it would not nominate him. Similar conditions prevail in other states.

The foregoing record proves that Colonel Roosevelt, without regard to his other essential deficiencies, is not a powerful vote-getter. The "win-with-Teddy" buncombe is quite popular with Colonel Roosevelt and his supporters with the hope of dragging into line timid voters and pot-hunting politicians. The facts show that as a vote-getter Roosevelt never had been as strong as his party. He was not as strong as Black or Odell in New York, where he is best known; although running against a cripple in Judge Parker, he ran more than a million votes behind his party strength; he was not as strong as Taft in the country at large; and he was not as strong as Taft and Deneen in Illinois.

The current belief, stimulated by Roosevelt's own expressions, that Roosevelt is a powerful vote-getter, is disproven by the facts.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Justine Amos entertained at dinner today Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Boren and Carl Reeves of Knightstown and Mr. and Mrs. James McCann of Sexton.

Mrs. Laura E. Walton and J. Q. Thomas of this city were quietly married in Indianapolis yesterday at the home of Mr. Thomas' son Dr. John Thomas. Among those present at the ceremony were Mrs. George W. Thomas of this city and Mr. Thomas' daughter, Mrs. Mabel Carpenter and two children, Evaline and Elizabeth of Wabash. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be at home at 119 West Fourth street until early next month. The Rev. Mr. Nelson, pastor of the Indianapolis Fourth Christian church, performed the ceremony.

In response to a request of the teachers of the Fairview school a number of patrons and friends met at the school building last Friday afternoon and perfected the organization of a Parent-Teacher Club with the following officers for the coming year:

President, Prof. E. E. Jeffrey; Vice-president, Mrs. Emma Creighton; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Eva Hinchman.

The object of the organization will be for the better understanding between parents and teachers and their co-operation in all work for the interest of the children, and to study the welfare of the child in home, school and community. Its membership is not limited to patrons alone but all who are interested in school and community are urged to attend.

The meetings will be held monthly at the school building, the first on Tuesday evening, October, 22d. The program will be carefully arranged. Papers and talks will be given on various interesting subjects to be followed by general discussions. Other literary and musical numbers will be a part of the programs to which all are welcome.

A pretty autumn wedding was celebrated Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Bartlett, in Lewisville, when Rev. Dalton Lewis of Dublin united in marriage Miss Helen Bartlett and Dwight L. Pottenger of Indianapolis, in the presence of over a hundred guests, says the Newcastle Courier. The house was handsomely decorated with the brilliant autumn foliage and a few vases of cut flowers. Preceding the ceremony Miss Grace Johnson and Mrs. Louis Hesler of Liberty, sang beautifully and Miss Lucile McIlvain, at the piano, played a program of bridal music, with Lohengrin's Wedding March for the entrance of the wedding party, which was led by the ribbon bearers, Miss Julia Boyd of Indianapolis, and Miss Jessie Anderson of Rushville. The bride was attended by Mrs. Kenneth Armstrong of Newcastle, as matron of honor, and Miss Louise Lewis of Connersville as bridesmaid. The groom's attendant was Mr. Harry Adams of Liberty.

The bridal gown was of handsome white crepe over silk, trimmed with shadowed lace, and the flowers carried were roses. It was a sweet sentiment of the bride's to wear a veil of white darned net, which has been an heirloom in the family for almost a hundred years. Mrs. Armstrong was gown in white messaline and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore white net over yellow messaline and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Following the marriage service there was a reception during which Mr. and Mrs. Pottenger received the congratulations of the guests and light refreshments were served. Later the bride and groom left for Indianapolis, where they will reside. They will be at home after November 15 at their apartments in "The Grove."

Guests from out of town to attend the wedding included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Jones, Misses Jessie, Bernice and Mary Anderson and Fannie Gray of Rushville; Mr. and Mrs. William Pottenger, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shepler, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hess, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stevens, Misses Ethel Lewis and Julia Boyd, and Mr. Geo. Cortelyou of Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foble, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Olwine of Greenville, O.; Mr.

and Mrs. Louis Lewis, Mr. John Straussler of Connersville; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Manlove of Cambridge City; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Armstrong, Mrs. Woods, Messrs. Claude Bartlett and Vinton Hill of Newcastle; Mr. and Mrs. M. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. William Cory of Spiceland; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shepler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and Cecil Atkins of Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lawrence of Cincinnati, O., and Dr. and Mrs. Walter B. Harvey of Pittsburgh, Pa.

MARRIED SIXTY-TWO YEARS

Parents of Mrs. John Meredith Pass Wedding Anniversary Today.

Today was the sixty-second anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Pike of Spiceland, parents of Mrs. John Meredith of this city, a record of which few aged couples can brag. The day was not celebrated, Mr. and Mrs. Pike spending the day quietly at home. Two years ago, the occasion of their sixtieth anniversary, a family dinner was held, and all of the seven surviving children were present. Ten were born to Mr. and Mrs. Pike, and in addition they have living eighteen grandchildren and fifteen great grandchildren. Mr. Pike, who is eighty-nine years old, is in very feeble health. Mrs. Pike is in her eightieth year. They came here from North Carolina in 1851 and have been living near Spiceland since that time.

ITALIAN FINED.

Newcastle Courier: Augusta Mae, the Dunreith foreigner, who recently was accused of assault and battery on two women in the village, was brought into the court Wednesday to answer to two indictments brought by the grand jury. He pleaded guilty to both charges and was given a fine of $10 and costs in each case, on his promise that he would leave Dunreith as soon as he could draw his money.

The Republican drum corps will meet at headquarters tonight at six o'clock and go to Milroy for the speaking.

MAKES GOOD ON PACIFIC COAST

Lcs Angeles Looks Forward to Appearance of Dick Wilson, Former Rushville Reinsman.

HAS THREE GOOD PROSPECTS

Excellent Likeness of Popular Horseman Appears in Los Angeles Newspaper—His Record.

Together with an excellent likeness of Dick Wilson, the former Rushville horseman, who went to California from here three years ago, the following appears in the Los Angeles Express:

Dick Wilson stands out pre-eminently as one of the greatest drivers of light harness horses in the United States. Although he is comparatively a young man, he has been in the racing game for 35 years, the last three of which he has passed in California.

He has developed and driven some of the fastest trotters and pacers ever raced in this country.

Up to the time he came West, Wilson entered his horses over the grand circuit, and under his guiding hand many Eastern horses were given creditable marks. For the last three years he has been handling the reins over his own trotters and pacers on the Pacific coast circuit, and has returned them victors on several occasions. Next week he will display his skill to Los Angeles fans during the race meeting to be held at Exposition park.

He will enter three of his favorite horses next week and those who know of his past achievements will watch Wilson's work with interest. In his string are Maurice S., pacer, with a record of 2:06; Borena D., trotter, with a record of 2:11½, and Lucille Wilson, trotter, with a record of 2:17.

All of his other horses are at Pleasanton, where he has wintered them for three years. It is possible, however, that Wilson will bring his whole stable to Los Angeles this winter if he can obtain quarters.

While racing over the grand circuit Wilson won, at one time or another, every big stake offered except two, the Kentucky Futurity and the Transylvania, neither of which events he ever entered.

TO SPEAK AT GLENWOOD.

KING PETER.

Ruler of Serbia, Who Joins In Uprising Against Turkey.

THE BALKAN STORM GAINING INTENSITY

Bulgaria Has Declared War On Turkey.

London, Oct. 17.—According to dispatches received here from Sofia, Bulgaria has declared war against Turkey. The reports are unconfirmed as yet, but as an indication of their probable truth dispatches from Constantinople tell of the departure from the capitals of Greece, Bulgaria and Serbia of the Turkish ministers accredited to them. The Constantinople dispatches add that the Ottoman representatives did not even ask for their passports, the omission being made purposely as an affront to the allies.

The Ottoman government characterizes as "insolent" the representatives of the allies calling upon the porte for reforms in Macedonia, and has given the governments signing the note twenty-four hours in which to apologize for it.

Greece's demand for the release of the Greek vessels seized by Turkey was entirely ignored by the sultan's government.

Dispatches from Podgoritz, the base of one of the Montenegrin armies of invasion, announce that General Martinovitch has captured Mt. Mounich, a fortified post opposite Tarakach.

The northern Montenegrin army has retaken Berana. The Turks were driven out after two days' fighting, and, according to the dispatches, which come from Montenegrin sources, lost 700 prisoners besides fourteen guns and large amounts of supplies.

Turko-Italian War Ended.
Geneva, Oct. 17.—The treaty of peace between Italy and Turkey will be signed tomorrow morning. The delegates are preparing the legal letters for the exchanges.

WHAT IT MEANS

Conclusion of Peace Treaty May Affect New Complication.

Paris, Oct. 17.—The conclusion of peace between Turkey and Italy has caused a feeling of general relief, as it removes the grave possibility of complications arising out of the Balkan crisis. It leaves Turkey free to prosecute war with her neighbors and enables Italy to take her place in the concert of the powers.

The great European nations under the leadership of France are exerting every effort to localize the conflict, which momentarily threatens to become general along the frontiers of Bulgaria, Serbia, Montenegro and Greece.

The powers thus far remain firm in their determination not to allow any change in the territorial situation in the Balkans when the war is over, no matter what may be its result. At the same time they call on Turkey to carry out the promised reforms.

THE RED SOX ARE GIANTS' MASTERS

World's Pennant Goes to the American League.

CHAMPIONS OF THE DIAMOND

In a Bitterly Fought Battle For the Deciding Game in the Wonderful Series, the Opposing Teams Run the Game Over Into Ten Innings, Maintaining the Interest Right Up to the Very Last Moment.

Giants... 0 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1—2 9 3
Batteries—Mathewson, Meyers; Bedient, Wood and Cady.

Boston, Oct. 17.—In a ten-inning contest the Red Sox beat the New York Giants by a score of 3 to 2 and thus became the champions of the diamond world. The championship became theirs in the most teaming and spectacular of all world's series, a series which included eight games and was won by four games to three. But the final defeat was bitter. Mathewson, the wonderful veteran, pitched gamely and effectively.

With the game in the Giants' grasp all Matty wanted was good support to insure victory. But he did not get it. A muffed fly by Snodgrass and the failure of either of two men, Merkle and Meyers, to take a foul fly which was easy to catch were misplays in the final inning which brought defeat to the Giants and victory to the Red Sox.

With all the mistakes in fielding that the Giants made and occasional other mistakes, the success won by the Red Sox was over a hardy, aggressive and courageous rival. Before they frittered the game away, however, the Giants did a good deal of sharp fielding in pinches and helped Mathewson to return the Bostonians to the field scoreless.

It was not until a pinch hitter, Henricksen, was brought in that the Red Sox were able to hurl a run across the plate. Their first tally was due to a two-bagger by Henricksen. Henricksen's hit tied the score in the seventh inning and sent in a man who had reached a base because an outfield ball was allowed to fall uncaught.

Wood succeeded Bedient in the eighth inning and was rapped for an earned run in the tenth. Bedient was hit hard, but kept the hits scattered. It was Murray who batted in New York's first run, and it was Murray who made a two-bagger in the tenth and made the second run on a hit by Merkle.

Profits of the Game.

The attendance was 17,034; receipts, $30,590; national commission's share, $3,059; each club's share, $13,725.

Each club's share of the whole series was $147,028.85.
The national commission's share, $49,083.20.

The total players' share, derived from the first four games only, $147,471.69.

Boston players, as winners, share 60 per cent, or $88,543.91.

New York players, as losers, share $59,028.69.

Each Red Sox player, of whom twenty-two were eligible, receives $4,024.68.

Each Giant player, of whom twenty-three were eligible, receives $2,566.46.

The figures in every case are greater than those for any previous world's series.

As soon as the winning run was scored Manager McGraw of the Giants made a bee line for the Red Sox bench to congratulate Manager Stahl. McGraw had taken defeat in a sportsmanlike manner and was about to offer his hand to the Boston leader, when a rowdy, stepping up behind McGraw, pushed him so hard that McGraw almost fell into the Red Sox pit. This treatment quickly riled McGraw, who turned upon his assailant and dealt him a stinging blow on the nose. A big crowd of Boston rooters promptly sided with the New York manager, who then shook hands with Stahl, and said:

"You've won the world series, and I wish you luck. We made errors that were fatal, but that is baseball, as you know. It has been a great series, but I am glad that it is over. The strain on my players was beginning to tell." McGraw, however, as he walked away after congratulating Stahl, showed that he was bitterly disappointed.

The Giants were a gloomy lot as they realized that they had been beaten out of the lion's share of the coin. Snodgrass looked as if he had lost his last friend on earth. He said he could not account for his muffed fly. He declared that he judged the ball perfectly, but somehow the leather twisted out of his glove just as he was convinced that he had it cinched. Chief Meyers said that Mathewson deserved to win, for he showed his best quality and worked like a Trojan.

When Yerkes scored the winning run on Gardner's long fly to Devore the crowd jumped out of the stands and rushed for the Boston bench. Yerkes, Speaker, Stahl, Lewis, Wood, Engle and others of the Red Sox were hugged and kissed by frenzied men. The new world's champions struggled through the mob to their bench, where 5,000 Hug fans gave three cheers and a tub for each member of the victorious team.

MEXICO STIRRED BY A NEW REVOLUTION

Nephew of Diaz Now In Rebellion.

Tampico, Mexico, Oct. 17.—The nephew of former President Diaz, Colonel Felix Diaz, is in complete possession of Vera Cruz, the most important port in the republic of Mexico, and has raised a new standard of rebellion. Diaz has proclaimed himself commander-in-chief of all the rebel forces in Mexico, with the title of general. Nearly the entire state of Vera Cruz has gone over to young Diaz.

Before 6 o'clock last evening every federal soldier in the city garrison, the police department, port hospital corps and firemen and more than a thousand new volunteers had enlisted and taken the oath of allegiance under Diaz. In all, the new revolutionary leader has more than 2,000 men under his banner in Vera Cruz alone. It is the most serious insurrection that has broken out in Mexico since Madero overthrew the government of the present rebel leader's uncle. Diaz appears to be in constant communication with the other rebel leaders throughout Mexico.

IDENTIFICATION OF DOCUMENTS

Many Witnesses Called In the Dynamite Trial.

STENOGRAPHERS ON THE STAND

Among the Many Persons Connected With the Iron Workers' Union Called by the Government to Testify Concerning Letters, Telegrams and Other Documents, Were a Couple of Young Woman of Union's Office.

Indianapolis, Oct. 17.—The time of the federal court continues to be taken up with identification of letters, telegrams and documents from the offices of the iron workers or brought here by witnesses under subpoenas. The examination of Miss Halesy, stenographer to John J. McNamara, was completed last evening, but the cross-examination went over till today on request of the attorneys for the defense. Among the witnesses were local officers of the iron workers' unions in various parts of the country and a number of letters passing between them and President Ryan were identified. The first of these was Thomas Burk, former business agent of local No. 60, at Buffalo. Burk had been ordered to produce copies of certain correspondence. He testified that he had made search for this, but had not been able to find it. Burk, however, identified an exhibit of the government as being a letter written to Ryan at his direction. He also identified a carbon copy of another letter as being a copy of the reply he had received.

Miss Jessie Minnick, from October, 1907, to May, 1908, a stenographer at the union's offices, also was used as a witness to identify a number of letters, among these being letters from Webb and Farrell of New York; also several letters dictated to her by J. J. McNamara. On one of the Farrell letters was the indorsement "ex board," which Miss Minnick testified was in the handwriting of J. J. McNamara.

United States Senator John W. Kern thus far in the progress of the dynamite conspiracy case in federal court has done nearly all the questioning of witnesses on cross-examination by the defense, and it is said that Kern is to continue to do the major part of the court work for the defense. With only three or four exceptions, all the one hundred and twenty-five witnesses used by the government in the first two weeks of the trial have been cross-examined by Senator Kern. About 450 government witnesses are yet to be called.

That he has been doing more work and is to do more than he expected when he entered the case, is admitted by Senator Kern.

BROUGHT BACK

Man Wanted at Shirley For Murder Five Years Ago Found at Cincinnati.

Greensburg, Ind., Oct. 17.—Joe Hicks, who was arrested at Cincinnati for the murder of Oscar Martin at Shirley, five years ago, has been returned here by Sheriff Cox. According to the sheriff, Hicks made a confession in which he said he was guilty of the murder. Hicks said after leaving Indiana he went to Louisville and remained there until a few days ago, when he went to Cincinnati, where he was arrested at the home of his brother-in-law. He was known as Tillman Gray. At the time the murder was committed a reward of $1,000 was offered for the arrest of Hicks. Since then the town of Shirley has become a city, the town council has been abolished and the reward withdrawn, so the Cincinnati detectives will obtain nothing for their work.

Victim of Accidental Shot.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 17.—Mrs. John McCord, wife of a farmer living south of the city, was accidentally shot and killed when her husband, who had been cleaning a shotgun, struck the trigger against a chair, discharging one barrel. The load of shot struck his wife in the right breast. Her right lung was torn to pieces by the charge and she died in a few minutes.

Snoddy Trial in November.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 17.—The fourth trial of William Snoddy, charged with whitecapping, has been set for Nov. 18. He is a brother of Tobe Snoddy, convicted of the same offense some time ago. Three special attorneys have been engaged by the state to assist in the prosecution.

Sentence Was Reserved.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 17.—Charles Zinn, aged twenty-three, was found guilty in the circuit court on a statutory charge filed against him because of his marriage to his half-sister, Miss Ethel Zinn, aged nineteen, on Sept. 12. The court reserved sentence.

Pioneer Succumbs to Gas.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Rachel Sellers, aged eighty-one, a pioneer of Bremen, was killed by gas while dressing at the home of her grandson here. A pulmoner was used two hours without success.

Will Meet in Peru.

Shelbyville, Ind., Oct. 17.—The Indiana synod of the Presbyterian church selected Peru for the convention next year.

SOME PREACHERS GET COLD FEET

intending to preach the truth when some old society dame, who runs the church, comes in and sits on the front seat and the preacher gets cold feet and leaves that part of his sermon out. But Jesus didn't. He put it all in. He asked her for a drink of water and then among other things He said to her "If thou knowest the gift of God and who it is that saith unto thee 'Give Me to Drink' thou wouldst have asked of Him and He would have given thee living water."

"It is this life, my brother—the life that Jesus came to give, that you need; and you need it not only because eternity is coming, but for what it will mean to you in the life that now is.

"There are two things which this life that Jesus came to give will do for every man who has it.

"It will put a new meaning upon the life you are living now. It would change life from a mere existence, from a mere career to be run through with and then done with into a glorious mission with a holy purpose. It would change death from a "fearful leap into the darkness" which Infidel Hobbes said he was taking, into a golden gateway, which opens upon greener fields than earth has ever known into another life of unspeakable and illimitable beauty.

"You say you want to live simply to enjoy life. All right. Young man, you say you want to enjoy life and you start out to enjoy it. You take a night key—by the way, fathers and mothers, that's the way you encourage your boy in his first steps to hell when you let him carry a night key or set the lock so he can come in when he pleases. Oh, I know you say, "He's only at the club," and maybe he is. But that "club's" only a place where he plays cards and drinks and goes to the devil.

"And so, young man, you start out to enjoy life.

"Night the first: A theatre where respectable women don't go. "Night the second: public dance with its seductive abandon.

"Night the third: Possibly the house of shame; and you come forth with your companions and you say, "My, but isn't this life," but God says it's death.

"Young woman, you say you'll enjoy life and after one long round of joy unconfined you come forth night after night, eyes sparkling, face all flushed, blood all warm, and you say, "My, but isn't this life," but God says it's death.

"Oh, but you say, I don't care for that. I want money and the honor it brings, and somebody else says, I don't care for money; I want the plaudits of the world—and so one lives for pleasure and the other for the money and the other for the praise of man. But that's not life and if living like that satisfies you, you've got one of the most dried up, shriveled up, parsimonious, cadaverous souls God Almighty ever made.

"There is another thing that this life that Jesus came to give will do; and that is to put a new meaning on death. Men don't shrink from death because they fear there is no hereafter. Man has always believed in the immortality of the soul, and he always will. It is an instinct of the soul itself. The darkest minded heathen has it—the most highly civilized has it—you have it.

"But there is another fact equally as certain as immortality and that is that every man will not share alike when he is done with the life he is living now. If there is no hell, then God has gone to a lot of trouble to save us from it.

siderable numbers of patients there will be additional room provided for unfortunates who are now confined in jails and poor houses in their respective counties. The farm plan for the care of the insane, though altogether new in Indiana and the middle west, has been tried in Massachusetts with satisfactory results.

Possibly the Indiana plan, as it will become known, will be the most comprehensive system of the kind that has been attempted anywhere and the principal features have been decided on only after several years of consideration. In the belief of Dr. Smith the plan will be a success on economical lines as well as from the humanitarian viewpoint.

FIGHT FOR THE RIBBONS KEEN

Entries in General Purpose And
Light Harness Classes at Horse
Show Above Average.

CROWDS THROU THE STREETS

Glare of Red Fire and Automobile
Parade Will Close Event Tonight
—$70 in Prizes.

The fifth annual horse show, the
most successful one ever held here,
will be closed tonight with the glare
of red fire reflecting on decorated
automobiles which will compete for
the seventy dollars in prize money
which has been hung up for the three
best decorated machines.

The automobile parade last year
was such a pronounced success that
it was decided to close the show this year the same way. The parade will
be formed at the corner of Perkins
and Seventh streets, and will move
down Main street and around
through the business district. Last
year the parade attracted the largest
crowd that has ever gathered on the
streets here in many years.

People thronged the streets here
today to witness the showing of the
general purpose and light harness
classes. Horsemen were unanimous
in the belief that never in the history
of Rush county had such a collection
of horses ever been gathered together.
The quality and number of entries in most of the light harness and general purpose classes caused the competition to be keener this year than ever before. The entries in the light
harness class this year did not excel
those in the general purpose class so
much as they have in the past.

The general purpose showing
brought out the best bunch of horses
ever seen here. In show number 55,
the general purpose geldings four years old and over, the competition for the purple and old gold ribbons was especially warm. There were thirteen
horses entered, and very one of them
appeared to be as fine an animal as
ever trod the earth. It required some
time for the judge to pick the winning animal. The horses all showed
to excellent advantage, every outfit
being spic and span.

harness class this afternoon excited
as much comment and interest as it
always does. Practically the same
outfits were entered in each showing,
but in one a woman handled the reins,
and in another a man was the driver.

The pony show last night attracted
a large crowd down town. The Arlington and Rushville bands combined
as one, lead the miniature horses and
their drivers up Main street to the
C. H. & D. railroad and back before
the show was started.

O. M. Hodgen of Henry county,
and Robert Longfellow and R. B.
Cook were among the biggest prize
winners yesterday. Mr. Longfellow
made a showing at one o'clock today
of all the horses he has entered in
the show. They made a string a
block long when lined up side by side.

The prizes for the best decorated
stallion will be awarded tonight.
It will be noted in the list of horse
show awards following that in some
cases only one premium was awarded. This was due to the fact that
the rules of the show requires. In
these cases the persons who had brought the horses here paid the additional entrance fees and were given
the prize. The awards follow:

Class 1, Heavy Draft Horses.
Best Draft Stallion, 4 years old or
over, 1st—William Furry; 2d—El-

revival, will hold a similar campaign
in Glenwood. This is a part of the county wide movement and Glenwood
is to be congratulated on getting Dr.
Wheeler for their evangelist. The
meetings will begin on Tuesday evening, October 29. The entire community will be asked to co-operate in the movement.

FARM HOUSE NEAR MANILLA BURNS

Home of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Underwood, on Alexander Solomon
Farm, is Razed.

BLAZE STARTS IN ATTIC

The beautiful country residence,
the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roe Underwood, one and one-half miles
east of Manilla, was burned to the
ground between the hours yesterday
of eight and nine.

The cause of the fire is unknown,
the blaze originated in the attic. The
only reason that can be assigned for
the starting of the conflagration was
matches to the upper rooms.

As soon as the fire was discovered
many of the neighbors hastened to
the scene and by their efforts saved
nearly all the contents of the house,
their attention being turned to the
work of removing the furnishings after it was plainly seen that it would
be impossible to save the building.

The dwelling is located on the farm of Alexander Solomon and as to whether or not insurance was carried on the building could not be learned.

FINDS A PIECE OF MASTODON'S GUM

John Stoten Makes Discovery Similar to Recent One in N. P. Jones'
Gravel Pit in Center.

BIG MASS OF PETRIFIED GUM

John Stoten of Center township
has found another piece of the
mouth of a mastodon, parts of which
were found by workmen in the N.
P. Jones gravel pit in Center township a few weeks ago. He made this discovery in the same place. The
piece of the mouth found by Mr.
Stoten appears to be the upper right
jaw, judging from the location
of a portion of the nostril which was
found attached. The teeth are in good shape and the large portion of
the petrified gum attached would fill
a bushel basket.

The opinion was advanced when
the first pieces were found that they
were about thirty-five feet under the
ground. Mr. Stoten takes issue with
always worked from the bottom and
then is allowed to cave in. Mr. Stoten
says that these parts of the pre-
historic animal might have been near
the surface and caved in with the
gravel. The find is on exhibition in Bliss & Cowing's shoe store window.

WAS ATTENDING BOARD MEETING

Joe Cowing Present When Message
From Governor Names East Ha-

Board Had Been Inspecting Tract
shall Wired Decision.

Joe Cowing returned yesterday
from what was probably the most important meeting of the board of trustees of the Eastern Hospital for
the Insane near Richmond, of which
he is a member, that was ever held.
While in session, the board received
a message from Gov. Marshall signifying that East Haven had been selected as the insane hospital at which
the Indiana colony system for treating insane patients would be tried
out.

The last legislature appropriated
$75,000 for the establishment of a
colony at one of the State institution, the governor to be allowed to designate which one. It was felt that
East Haven would be selected. Mr.
Cowing says, because Dr. S. E.
Smith, medical superintendent of
plan.

This is not the first attempt Dr.
Smith has made to get an appropriation to finance and try out his pet
idea. The legislature before the last
one was asked by Dr. Smith to make
an appropriation to establish a colony at East Haven. The appropriation was refused on the ground that it should not be made specific for
any one institution. The last legislature was asked to make the appropriation to experiment with the colony plan at any one of the State
hospitals, and at the same time it
was pretty generally understood that
Gov. Marshall would select the one
at Richmond.

In view of this fact the board had
already retained options on a large
body of land two miles from the site
of the hospital at from $130 to $150
an acre with a view of being prepared when Gov. Marshall made public his intention of selecting East Haven to try the colony plan. The
board had just been inspecting the
tract of land when the message was
received from Gov. Marshall. Besides Mr. Cowing of this city, the other members of the board are Merideth Nicholson, the novelist, of
Indianapolis, John Hannan of La-Grange and John Dentamore of Portland.

The land may not be adjacent to
the present hospital farm. Such
close proximity is not to be desired,
and would hinder in a degree one of
the good results hoped to be attain-
ed. The transfer of patients to a point away and apart from the institution will, of itself, be an element in bringing about an improved condition of these unfortunates.

The plan as proposed contem-
plates the colonizing of men patients
at this time probably from ten to
twenty-five in a group. The land
will be of the kind that will be adapted to general farming and these colonies distributed about the farm will
have certain tracts under their care.
The farm buildings will be of simple
construction, but fully suited to the
needs of the patients and thereby
they will remain under the influences
of pleasant work and healthful environment. The farm is not only to be self-sustaining, but its surplus of
products will go to the Eastern Insane hospital.

The beneficial effects to the patients themselves was not all that
recommended the farm plan, for by

HORSEMAN IS KICKED TWICE

Horace Jackson, Henry County, is Severely Injured by Enraged
Animal, Receiving Two Blows.

USES WHIP ONCE TOO OFTEN

Wound on Arm Requires Six Stitches
—Will be Removed to His Home
Tomorrow.

Horace Jackson, 30 years old, of Wilkinson, Henry county, was se-
verely injured this morning by being
kicked by an enraged horse. Jack-
son was kicked twice, the first blow
cutting a deep gash on his arm
and the second landing in the pit of his stomach. The accident occurred at the livery
barn in East First street, next
to the mill race, and was Jackson's
fault to a large extent.

The injured man is here with O.
M. Hodgen of Knightstown, who has
a large string of horses for the
horse show. He went in the stall
to look after the animal and when it became unmanageable, applied the whip just once too often. The horse
fought back and Jackson caught it
on the arm. He kept after the
horse, however, and took the count
when both the horse's feet landed on
his abdomen.

Jackson was removed to the Grand
hotel where his injuries were treated.
Six stitches were required for the
wound on his arm. He was rendered unconscious by the blow to his
stomach but the attending physician
states that he is not hurt internally.
Following the accident he suffered a
severe nervous shock and will probably be removed home tomorrow.

The enraged horse would probably
have done greater injury to Jackson
if other stable attendants had not
come to the rescue. O. M. Hodgen,
largest winners at the show yester-
day. A rumor was current in Knightstown this morning that Mr.
Hodgen had been shot and killed.
This probably grew out of the accident to Jackson.

BIG MEETING AT MILROY TONIGHT

A. J. Ross Delivers Rousing Republi-
can Speech at New Salem to a Crowded House.

A. J. Ross of Andersonville delivered a rousing Republican speech in
New Salem last night. It is reported
that at least six hundred people
heard him. At least nearly every person who could crowd into the auditorium at the New Salem high
school building was present to hear
him discuss the political issues of the
day. Every seat was taken and many
stood throughout the speech. W. R.
Jinnet and Chauncey Duncan both
made brief appeals to the voters and
several of the county candidates announced themselves.

What will probably be the biggest
of the week will be the speaking at Milroy tonight. Richard Langford
of Platte, Neb., will speak. He is a gifted orator who is so capable that
he is in great demand in the larger cities. Mr. Langford was expected
to arrive here at 3:26 this afternoon.
The Rushville drum corps will go to Milroy for the meeting. A number of local Republicans are planning to go
in automobiles.

BUNCH SOLD OUT FAST

Cattle Left.

Carey Patton, of the Milroy vicinity, is not only a big and successful
farmer, but he is also a hustler, and
a man that does things says the Greensburg News. Recently he purchased three hundred head of feeders from the Louisville market and in
ten freight cars had them removed
to his farm. They had hardly eaten
their breakfast until he had turned
them into money again and at a decided profit. Today he now has only
hundred left.

SMALL BOY RUN DOWN BY A PONY

Pleas Miller, Jr., Son of Mr. and Mrs.
Tom Miller, Painfully Hurt
Last Night.

Pleas Miller, Jr., aged two years
and eleven months, son of Mr. and
Mrs. Tom Miller, living south of the city, was run down by a pony driven
by Mary Louise Bliss, daughter of
Mr. and Mrs. Will Bliss, during the pony show in East Second street last
night. The little boy sustained a painful gash on his lower lip, and
lost considerable blood, but he was
soon revived after the accident, and
will not suffer any evil effects from
it. The child was standing by his mother's side watching the pony
show, when he espied his father
across the street. Thoughtless of any danger, he dashed across the street
before his mother was aware he was
gone, and he ran directly in the path
of the little pony driven by Mary Louise Bliss. The accident was no
fault of the driver as she had no time
to pull up.

"CHUCK" BARTLETT FACES 3 CHARGES

Milroy Man Gets Drunk and Leaves
Horse Hitched in Alley For 15 Hours.

TWO OTHERS ARE ARRESTED

John Rollins of Carthage was fined
one dollar and costs in police court
yesterday afternoon by Mayor Black,
for intoxication. His fine was stayed.
Rollins was run in by special officer
Wilbur Hall.

"Chuck" Bartlett of Milroy was
found in an intoxicated condition this
morning and arrested. He will probably be tried Friday morning. Out-
side of a few drunks the police have
had little trouble from the horse
show crowd.

The police have three charges
against Bartlett and he may have to face all three. The officers claim he
back of the Price saloon from 9
o'clock yesterday morning until it
was put in a stable by the police,
which was about 11 o'clock last
night. Besides the intoxication
charge, one for cruelty to animals
and hitching in an alley may be preferred against him.

Emanuel Dunwoody was found
down and out in the alley back of the Portola. Dunwoody was too intoxicated to get up and will explain to Mayor Black in the morning.

SOME PREACHERS GET COLD FEET

Biederwolf Says There Are Pastors
Extant Who Are Afraid to Preach Truth.

CITES CHRIST AS AN EXAMPLE

Services Begin at 8 Tonight to Allow Crowds Seeing Automobile Parade to Attend.

Seng Program Tonight.
Solo—Mrs. McDaniel.
Duet—Mr. Heaton and Mr. Mc-
Ewan.
Solo—B. F. Miller.
Male Quartette.
Solo—Mr. McEwan.

The services at the tabernacle will
not begin until eight o'clock tonight
so as to allow people who would like
to attend to see the automobile parade. Dr. Biederwolf will preach tonight on "Atonement." A special

Last night Dr. Biederwolf pointed out that life is not what people generally expect it to be wealth and
fame. He severely arraigned the
parents who allow their sons to have
a night key or fix the lock so they
can come in any time in the night,
characterizing such conduct as "encouraging your boy to take his first
step to hell."

In so many words Dr. Biederwolf
cautioned the young people not to be attracted by the gay white lights. He
said young people are led away by
wordly pleasures and think it is life,
but God says, he pointed out, that it
is death.

The evangelist criticized ministers
who are afraid to preach the truth,
citing as an example one of Christ's
sermons in which he preached nothing but truth. He said Christ did
not review the latest novel or open
up with a lot of glittering generali-
ties or rhetorical niceties. He declared that many a minister went in-
to the pulpit to preach the truth when
some old "society dame" who runs
the church comes in, sits down on the
front seat and the preacher gets cold
feet and leaves that part of the sermon out.

Dr. Biederwolf said in part last
night:

"I want to speak to you tonight
from the 10th verse of the 10th
chapter of John. 'I am come that ye
might have life.' There is another
verse in John's gospel that would
serve just as well for a text to this
sermon. It is John 5:40, 'And Ye
Will Not Come unto me that ye might
have life.'"

"Nothing is plainer from the
teaching of Jesus Christ than this—
that He associated the gift of life
with Himself and His own mission
into the world. He preached one day
to a woman at the well of Samaria—
and, by the way, it wasn't a sermon-
ette He preached. He didn't review
the latest novel or open up a lot of
glittering generalities and rhetorical
niceties, vague and oftentimes meaningless, and usually of no more consequence than the inscription on Pickwick's marvelous stone.

"He spoke plain to her. He said,
'You're an adulteress—you've had
five husbands already,' and she
stood up and took notice. The world
is going to perdition for the want of
plain preaching. What the pulpit
wants is Nathans who are not afraid
to rebuke sin though it sits in high
places and walks in furred robes or
satin gowns. But there are too many sail trimmers preaching today who
think more of expediency than they
do of truth. And then there's many
a minister who goes into the pulpit

Sheriff's Sale.

By virtue of a certified copy of a decree and order of sale, to me directed from the Clerk's office of the Rush Circuit Court, in a cause wherein Building Association No. 10 is plaintiff and Ida Wicker, Leander Wicker and Wm. B. Joyce are defendants, requiring me to make the sum of three hundred and sixty-eight dollars and fifty-seven cents ($368.57), with interest on said decree and costs, I will expose at public sale, to the highest bidder, on Thursday, the 24th Day of October, 1912, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 4 o'clock p. m., of said day, at the door of the Court House, of said Rush County, Indiana, the rents and profits of a term not exceeding seven years, of the following described real estate, to-wit:

Lot Number twenty-two (22), in Cherry Grove Addition to the City of Rushville, Indiana. If such rents and profits will not sell for a sufficient sum to satisfy said decree, interest and costs, I will, at the same time and place, expose at public sale the fee simple of said real estate, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to discharge said decree, interest and costs.

Said sale will be made without any relief whatever from valuation or improvement laws. CLARA L. BEBOUT, Sheriff of Rush County.

"LET MY PEOPLE GO."

The Indianapolis World, one of the strongest Negro newspapers of the country, appeals to the colored race to remain true to Republican principles in an inspired editorial, "Let My People Go," and says:

"The Progressive party with outstretched arms bids welcome to the Negro voters into its ranks. This party, in so far as its leadership is concerned, is composed mainly of disappointed office seekers and defeated candidates. They have a grievance. They ask the Negro voter to assist them in redressing their grievances. They ask the Negro to desert the Republican party and join them in the trade of abuse against that great party. The leaders of the Progressive party know that under the policies of their party—the deliverance of the Negro from the things complained of—is an utter impossibility, and only false hopes and inspirations are offered him. We insist that the leadership of this Progressive party, which has so convulsed the nation and disturbed the peaceful relations between men—should 'let my people go.'"

"And as Pharaoh, Egypt's ancient king, refused to hear the voice which said, 'Let my people go,' and went to his downfall and doom—so every influence since then that has attempted to take advantage of the weak and the poor has sooner or later gone upon the rocks. The just God who says 'let my people go' is against any and all efforts of the Progressive party which encourages the Negro voter to desert the Republican party. The white man and the colored man, by their tears and blood wrung from mitered tyrants and crowned slave despots the priceless heritage of liberty. There are thousands of Negroes living today who fought for the flag and for its synonym—the Republican party—when the men now traducing them were in their cradles. The Negroes who have identified themselves with the Progressive party, which is only a Democratic aid society, will live to see the day when they will regret their action."

ON A RICKETY PLATFORM.

Democratic speakers are having a hard struggle with the State platform. That meaningless collection of generalities drawn by and for the corporations. Mr. Robinson was the first to enlist in a praiseworthy but futile effort to amend it and Gov. Marshall, in his South Bend speech, endeavored to do the same thing. He declared that he has always stood for a "workman's compensation act" and that he also favors the enlargement of the powers of the state railroad commission "so as to give it control of all public utilities." Incidentally these were among the recommendations which Gov. Marshall made to the resolutions committee of the Democratic State convention. Recommendations which in their entirety were so significantly ignored by the makers of the platform.

REPUBLICAN TARIFF PLATFORM

Tariff Should be Revised, But Only After Close Study of Conditions Have Been Made.

The Republican platform says on the tariff question, the chief question in the campaign:

"We reaffirm our belief in a protective tariff. The Republican tariff policy has been of the greatest benefit to the country, developing our resources, diversifying our industries and protecting our workmen against competition with cheaper labor abroad, thus establishing for our wage-earners the American standard of living. The protective tariff is so woven into the fabric of our industrial and agricultural life that to substitute for it a tariff for revenue only would destroy many industries and throw millions of our people out of employment. The products of the farm and of the mine should receive the same measure of protection as other products of American labor."

"We hold that the import duties should be high enough while yielding a sufficient revenue to protect adequately American industries and wages. Some of the existing import duties are too high, and should be reduced. Readjustment should be made from time to time to conform to changed conditions and to reduce excessive rates, but without injury to any American industry. To accomplish this correct information is indispensable. This information can best be obtained by an expert commission, as the large volume of useful facts contained in the recent reports of the tariff board has demonstrated the pronounced feature of modern industrial life is its enormous diversifications. To apply tariff rates justly to these changing conditions requires closer study and more scientific methods than ever before. The Republican party has shown by its creation of a tariff board its recognition of this situation and its determination to be equal to it. We condemn the Democratic party for its failure either to provide funds for the continuance of this board or to make some other provision for securing the information requisite for intelligent tariff legislation. We protest against the Democratic method of legislating on these vitally important subjects without careful investigation."

"The steadily increasing cost of living has become a matter not only of national, but of world-wide concern. The fact that it is not due to the protective tariff system is evidenced by the existence of similar conditions in countries which have a tariff policy different from our own, as well as by the fact that the cost of living has increased, while rates of duty have remained stationary or been reduced."

COL. ROOSEVELT OUT OF DANGER

Surgeons Have Nothing But Good Reports.

MRS. ROOSEVELT IN CHARGE

Upon Arriving at the Hospital in Chicago Where Her Distinguished Husband Is Recovering From Shock of Crank's Murderous Shot, Wife of ex-President Immediately Excluded Visitors and Took Charge of Patient.

Chicago, Oct. 17.—Such steady gain is being made by Colonel Roosevelt that the attending surgeons are more hopeful for his recovery than they have been at any time since he was shot last Monday night by John Schrank, a New York crank, who had followed the colonel to Milwaukee and there shot him in the breast as he was leaving his hotel to go to a theater to make a speech.

In an examination made at Mercy hospital the colonel's pulse and respiration were shown to be nearly normal, the general condition good and the patient cheerful and resting well. That the surgeons themselves are more cheerful than they have been is shown in a bit of repartee while the colonel was being examined. As he was being rolled over the colonel exclaimed with a grin: "I move with greater agility than I have for a couple of days."

"We are breathing more easily, too," came the quick reply from Dr. J. B. Murphy.

The surgeons have made known the result of the last X-ray examination. The pictures showed the ball lodged up against the fourth rib. It could not be determined by the doctors in this picture whether the rib had been splintered or not. In fact, there was a division of opinion of the medical men in this particular.

The surgeons also expressed the belief that tomorrow will settle definitely whether the bullet fired by Schrank will cause trouble. If there are no symptoms of blood poisoning by that time the surgeons believe that nature will segregate the ball from the adjoining tissues and that there will be no danger from blood poisoning. In which event in all probability the bullet will never be extracted.

Mrs. Roosevelt's first move after her arrival here was to decree that the colonel must see no visitors except the members of his family. Once or twice she has made exceptions, but otherwise she has adhered firmly to her resolution. The colonel was "feeling fine" and ready to receive visitors, but Mrs. Roosevelt gave him no opportunity to pass upon her ruling, for she made it on her own authority and saw to it that it was enforced.

She received the cards and messages for her husband and sent back her replies, with the result that the colonel himself did not know who wished to see him.

There is little in the appearance of the patient to indicate he is not in his usual health.

When Mrs. Roosevelt reached the hospital the colonel greeted his wife with a gay "Hello." After greeting the children the colonel again reassured the whole family by having read the last of the bulletins of the surgeons.

The husband and father then attempted to tell the family just "how it happened," but a warning came through the door from one of the doctors that the patient must not excite himself unnecessarily, and the talk was limited to family circle happenings. With the exception of Mrs. Roosevelt the other members of the family presently left the hospital. They will stay with friends in the immediate vicinity of the hospital. A room has been provided for Mrs. Roosevelt in the hospital adjoining that in which the colonel lies.

ROOSEVELT'S MESSAGE

Was Conveyed to People by Beveridge in Louisville Speech.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 17.—For over an hour ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana reviewed the life of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, chief of the Progressive party, before 5,000 auditors last night at Phoenix hall.

The ex-senator brought from the wounded leader a message to the people of the country, in which he said that it mattered little whether he survived or fell, that the cause was still there, and in the event that one standard bearer fell by the wayside, the others would take his place until the victory had been won.

A SPECIAL GUARD

Will Be Provided For Wilson on His Pittsburgh Visit.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 17.—Governor Woodrow Wilson will have a bodyguard in Pittsburgh such as has never accorded another visitor by the police of this city. When the Democratic presidential nominee arrives at the union depot he will be met by "Fighting Eddie" McGough and a special gun squad of twenty men whose work at the pistol range each day have put them in the sharpshooters' class. The squad will escort Wilson on all his journeys about Pittsburgh, and will be on the stage at Duquesne Garden, where Wilson speaks tomorrow night.

DEFENDANT WOULDN'T FACE MRS. ROSENTHAL

Becker's Eyes Fell Before Widow of Alleged Victim.

New York, Oct. 17.—In the trial of Lieutenant Becker there was an episode that will hardly be forgotten by those who took part in it and those who looked and listened. This was when Mrs. Lillian Rosenthal, widow of the murdered gambler, looked steadily at Becker and swore that she was present when Becker in the Elks club a few months before the murder, put his arm around her husband's shoulder and said: "Cheer up. Everything will be all right."

The jurors, who had been following every word of Mrs. Rosenthal's composed but earnest story, were on tip-toe as they leaned toward the witness. Several turned their heads and watched Becker's face as Mrs. Rosenthal went on with her testimony about the raid that the lieutenant made on the gambling house and the reply he made to her surprised questions as to what it all meant, said, "It had to be Herman or me. Tell Herman he don't owe me anything. Tell him to go down and see that man and tell him we are square."

For the first time since the trial opened, Lieutenant Becker's eyes roved from a witness. He looked toward the ceiling or at the table in front of him, and when Mrs. Rosenthal at times turned from the jurors to fix her eyes on him he looked away. The muscles of his throat were moving as if he was swallowing hard. And when Mr. McIntyre, a little later, would have persisted with the cross-examination of Mrs. Rosenthal, Becker ordered his lawyer to stop.

"Let her go," he whispered, audibly. With the testimony of Mrs. Rosenthal and with the testimony of numerous disinterested witnesses that Becker and Rose, in the months before the murder, met frequently at Rose's house, at the Union Square hotel, and at Luchow's restaurant, and that Becker was in communication with Rose after the murder, the state approached the completion of its case.

Highway Robber Sentenced.

My kidneys and bladder are again in a healthy condition. I gladly recommend them. F. B. Johnson & Co. (Advertisement.)"

Mrs. Peter Holan, 11301 Buckeye Rd., Cleveland, O., says: "Yes, indeed I can recommend Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. THE DANGER THAT WAS ESCAPED

WHAT WOULD HAVE HAPPENED IF DEMOCRATIC TARIFF BILLS HAD NOT BEEN VETOED.

FACTORIES WOULD BE CLOSED

The Disaster Which Threatened One County in Connecticut Would Have Been Experienced in Almost Every County in the United States.

Congressman E. J. Hill is one of the greatest, if not the greatest, tariff experts in the United States. He represents Fairfield county, Connecticut, in congress, and he has recently published a startling document in which he shows the effect the Democratic tariff bills passed during the recent session of congress and vetoed by President Taft, would have had upon these industries if enacted into a law. He lists the factories in alphabetical order and shows in connection with each one just the percentage of reduction in the duty upon the article which it manufactures. The showing fills four pages of a newspaper and it has not only awakened Connecticut to a shuddering realization of the danger it has escaped, but it has aroused all New England to the menace of a Democratic victory.

Mr. Hill shows beyond question that if these Democratic bills had passed practically every industry in his district and in the entire state of Connecticut would have been put upon a free trade basis and a very large proportion of them would have been obliged to close their doors. Manufacturers from all over the country who have seen this exhibit are writing to Mr. Hill to thank him for making it and to tell him that they had no idea how near to extinction they had been. They had not realized the deadly menace to their industries which was hidden in the Democratic tariff bills and they had not realized the immeasurable debt they owe to President Taft for vetoing it. One correspondent from Delaware writes that Congressman Hill's disclosures had "set the state on fire," and that it is hardly too strong a term to use to describe the intense interest aroused.

Another article which has recently appeared and which has produced almost as startling an effect upon those to whom it was immediately addressed as that of Congressman Hill, is an editorial in the "American Sheep Breeder." This editorial calls attention to the fact that neither Colonel Roosevelt nor Professor Wilson made any reply whatever when asked what their attitude would be on the question of protection to the wool industry, while President Taft answered by wire, calling attention to his veto of the wool bill and the expression of opinion which he gave in that veto.

The editorial very properly draws the inference from the silence of the Bull Moose and Democratic candidates that the wool industry need not hope for any consideration at their hands, and it quotes the message of President Taft to show that he realizes the absolute necessity of protection in order that the industry may prosper, and that so long as he is in the White House no free wool bill can become a law.

The "American Sheep Breeder" goes to many thousand men engaged in the sheep industry and it is not in any sense a political newspaper. It is devoted to the interests of the sheep industry, however, and its expression of editorial opinion that President Taft and the Republican party alone can be trusted to safeguard that industry, can hardly fail to concentrate upon the Republican ticket the vote of all those vitally interested in that industry.

The Democratic managers realize the deep-seated distrust toward their party which exists on account of its attitude on the tariff question and are trying desperately to make it appear that the tariff plank in their platform does not really mean so very much. They plead that the Democratic program would be to reduce the tariff gradually so as not to disturb business, with the idea that ultimately the country could reach a free trade basis by easy stages—which is like the old story about gradually reducing the feed which is given to your horse until by dint of habit he learns to do without any feed at all.

But the country will not be deceived. The country knows perfectly well that Democratic victory would mean a long period of tariff agitation with nothing certain except that in the end bills would be passed under which there would inevitably be enormous importations of foreign products with corresponding contraction and stagnation of domestic trade and manufacture. The country did not fail to take note of the tariff revision bills passed by the present Democratic congress under the boast that they did not contain a line of protection. The country knows that but for the courageous vetoes of President Taft these ruinous Democratic measures would now be on the statute books and in all probability the industries affected by them would be languishing and thousands of men out of work.

It is the knowledge of these facts that is responsible for the strong and steady drift toward Taft that is reported from all sections of the country and that is the forecast of a sweeping Republican victory.

ROOSEVELT NOT A GOOD VOTE-GETTER

HIS POPULARITY NOT SHOWN BY THE VOTES HE HAS RECEIVED.

In New York When He Ran for Governor He Did Not Get Full Party Support—Presidential Vote When Analyzed Is Not to His Advantage.

Colonel Roosevelt is regarded everywhere as a marvelous vote-getter. "We are for Teddy because he will elect our county ticket," chorused the Roosevelt shouters prior to the renomination of President Taft. And even now, when, having failed to get the Republican nomination for a third term, he is heading a bolting Third Party organization, there are many Republicans who seem to think that he has a strong hold upon the people. The fact is the record shows that he is not a successful vote getter. The belief which prevails in some parts of the country that Roosevelt has a magic hold upon the people is not supported by the facts. Mr. Roosevelt's own activity in self-advertising is largely responsible for the belief.

Take, for instance, his home state of New York. Here are the figures of the Republican vote cast in the three elections of 1894, 1898 and 1900, the two years before and the two years after Roosevelt was a candidate for governor:

1894, Black	787,516
1898, Roosevelt	661,707
1900, Odell	804,859

When Roosevelt ran as a candidate for governor he had behind him his prestige of service in the war with Spain. He made a spectacular campaign with a number of uniformed soldiers riding with him upon the rear platform of his special train. Even with this advantage he polled 125,000 less votes than Black and nearly 145,000 less votes than Odell. This shows that in his own state he is not the vote-getter which he claims to be.

Polled Less Votes Than Taft.

Colonel Roosevelt received an enormous plurality when he ran for president in 1904, but that was because 1,280,000 Democrats declined to vote for Judge Alton B. Parker. The real test of Roosevelt's plurality is the number of Republican votes cast for him. He polled 7,623,456 votes, but even this number was 55,000 less than were cast for Taft in 1908 with Bryan in the field and practical Democratic harmony restored. Do these figures show Roosevelt to be a great vote getter?

The figures as to Illinois are also interesting and instructive. In 1904 the total Republican vote for Roosevelt was 632,645, but this was 1,384 less than were cast for Charles S. Deneen for governor. Roosevelt was supposedly the idol of the Republican party while Governor Deneen's nomination was secured at the end of a three weeks' convention in which bitter factional fighting developed. Yet Deneen, as stated, received 1,384 more votes for Roosevelt.

An attempt is made to demonstrate Colonel Roosevelt's popularity by citing the fact that his plurality in Illinois in 1904 was 305,000, while Taft's was only 179,000 in 1908. The fact is that in 1904 Roosevelt received 632,645 votes. In 1908 Taft received 629,929 votes, so that out of about 630,000 votes the only difference between Roosevelt's popularity and Taft's popularity as shown by the total Republican vote was 2,716.

Illinois is cited merely because it is typical of other states.

Some Primary Figures.

As Republican candidate for president last spring, Colonel Roosevelt polled 61 per cent of the total vote cast at the Illinois primaries, but only 42.37 per cent of the Taft 1908 vote. A majority of the Republicans of Illinois have not expressed a preference for Colonel Roosevelt for president. In a recent statement Colonel Roosevelt said: "The primary in Illinois last spring definitely decided that I was the choice of the Illinois Republican voters for president." Colonel Roosevelt should be informed that 42.37 per cent of the Republican vote in Illinois does not decide what 57.63 per cent shall do with a bolter who denounced their party because it would not nominate him. Similar conditions prevail in other states.

The foregoing record proves that Colonel Roosevelt, without regard to his other essential deficiencies, is not a powerful vote-getter. The "win-with-Teddy" buncombe is quite popular with Colonel Roosevelt and his supporters with the hope of dragging into line timid voters and pot-hunting politicians. The facts show that as a vote-getter Roosevelt never had been as strong as his party. He was not as strong as Black or Odell in New York, where he is best known; although running against a cripple in Judge Parker, he ran more than a million votes behind his party strength; he was not as strong as Taft in the country at large; and he was not as strong as Taft and Deneen in Illinois.

The current belief, stimulated by Roosevelt's own expressions, that Roosevelt is a powerful vote-getter, is disproven by the facts.

Bryan and Taft.

William J. Bryan was in the national Republican convention at Chicago as a newspaper reporter, so that as a matter of business, as well as of politics, he followed closely the evidence and the argument in the case of all the contested delegates.

Mr. Bryan is on the stump earnestly supporting Professor Wilson and earnestly opposing President Taft.

If Bryan, the reporter, had learned anything that would help Bryan, the orator, to make a stronger case against President Taft don't you suppose that he would have told it? To put it in another way, don't you suppose that if Mr. Bryan believed the nomination for President Taft had been stolen he would be saying so to every audience he addresses?

Sam Sanderson Says:

DREW FROM LIFE

That a lot of fellows who have been hitting the trail for Armageddon have lost it.

You may take it all the way through and a dollar will buy as much in the states if not more. Labor is much cheaper here than in the states. Common farm labor is on an average of 40 cents a day in harvest, and other times 25 and 30 cents. Masons and other mechanics receive $1 to $1.25 a day of ten hours. Railroad engineers get from $50 to $60 per month. You can figure out for yourself that they have a very cheap way of living. The people here are stout and robust. The women work in the fields yet as well as the men, and on the average the women are much stouter than most men in America. The country looks like a big garden spot, where flowers are seen much oftener than weeds. The highways are magnificent and autos can travel without getting stuck in the mud. Crops are good here but hard to save."

The Nutting Season.

Out in the real country nutting is one of the festivals of the juvenile cycle. When the early frosts send the meaty treasures rattling to the ground, there is jolly sport wandering over the fields and hills, in the search for chestnuts, walnuts, butternuts, hickory nuts, or whatever the particular locality may afford.

A philosophic observer once remarked that a boy would hunt through the grass half an hour to find one chestnut. A nut of almost any kind is such a spicy concentration of palatable tastes that it appeals to a normal youngster as a prize to be sought ardently with the toil.

In a great many localities nutting is not the sport it used to be, because of the growing tendency of country people to post their land against trespassing. Many people who wander about the fields are lawless, tearing down fences or walls and taking no pains to replace them.

This leads the farmer to look with jealous eyes on strollers over his domain. Then too, the spirit of utilization of all resources encourage the farmer to plant and care for all nut trees along with his other crops, and pick their fruit himself or let out the right to do so to others on shares. The old freedom with which you could walk through the country and share in woodland treasures is going by.

Editorial Notes

A Milroy man may be fined for leaving his horse all day without any thing to eat, but a man can starve his children for a week and never have to pay.

That was an awful blow a local clothing concern handed the horse show yesterday afternoon.

A mare quartet would mean, of course, a four-in-hand, but, you know, you can't expect much of a fellow when a horse show is on.

Farm Machinery Abroad.

One of the most persistent misrepresentations of which low tariff writers and speakers are guilty is that the products of American factories, particularly farm implements, are sold cheaper abroad than at home. This falsehood has been rebutted again and again, and still it keeps bobbing up. And so it may be worth while to reprint a letter which the Iola (Kan.) Register recently published from a citizen of that state who has been on a visit to his old home in Germany, a letter which, by the way, contains some interesting evidence as to wages and style of living abroad. As the Register says: "Read it and quit your grumbling: "The manner of farming has improved, as I find much American made machinery here. McCormick, Deering and other implements are in abundance, but cost much more here than they do in America. They buy 5-foot McCormick mowers for $70, and everything else is in proportion.

A DESERVED REBUKE.

William Jennings Bryan, speaking in Indianapolis last night, delivered a deserved rebuke to Bull Moosers and such newspapers as the Indianapolis Star for taking advantage of Col. Roosevelt's misfortune to advance the interests of the party.

Mr. Bryan took the stand that the questions before the country must be decided by the sane. A maniac can not be made an arbitrator in such a crisis."

He added: "I am surprised that the friends of Mr. Roosevelt should attempt to make use of this incident in his behalf. It can not be charged to the Democratic party—it can not be fairly charged to any party.

"The suggestion that the assailant was led to make the attack because of newspaper criticism is a far-fetched one, and even if it could be shown that an unbalanced mind was influenced by criticism, it is no more just to demand a suspension of the discussion of pending problems on this account than it would be to reject religion because some have gone insane on that subject.

"I have been a careful reader of the papers since last June and I am quite sure that the Taft papers have been no more bitter in their assaults upon Mr. Roosevelt than the Roosevelt papers have been in their assaults upon Mr. Taft."

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess will show a Vitagraph "At the Eleventh Hour" for the first picture tonight. It is a high class society drama. The other is a Pathe comedy entitled, "The Burglar's Weird Reception."

The Palace will show a feature two reel Imp production tonight "The Winning of the Latonia Derby". It is a sensational romance added. The picture was taken at the famous Latonia track and is said to be a real thriller.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

PLACING THE BLAME
(Columbus Republican.)

Of course, everybody but cranks and the like are sorry that Col. Roosevelt was shot, and that he must necessarily suffer as a result of his wound, but the attitude of some of the so-called independent newspapers is calculated to make the average reader tried. For instance, the Indianapolis Star ascribes the attack to the influence that intemperate newspaper attacks on the Colonel and his personal party may have had on minds easily inflamed and weak, the inference being that only Colonel Roosevelt and the so-called progressive party have been subjects of such attacks. The Star's skirts are not clear of similar acts, nor indeed, are those of Col. Roosevelt himself. What would be more intemperate in speech or calculated to excite passion or resentment in breasts susceptible to such influence than his characterization of President Taft and those who are supporting his candidacy when he said with his well known vehemence:

"The President of the United States is a receiver of stolen goods and no better than the thief. The voter who supports him is in the same class."

There you have the expression of sentiment that breeds assassins. Some of our public men by the intemperance of their public utterances and many of our newspapers by reason of publishing sentiments of similar import sow the seeds of discord that too often ripen in acts of violence.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Justine Amos entertained at dinner today Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Boren and Carl Reeves of Knightstown and Mr. and Mrs. James McCann of Sexton.

Mrs. Laura E. Walton and J. Q. Thomas of this city were quietly married in Indianapolis yesterday at the home of Mr. Thomas' son Dr. John Thomas. Among those present at the ceremony were Mrs. George W. Thomas of this city and Mr. Thomas' daughter, Mrs. Mabel Carpenter and two children, Evaline and Elizabeth of Wabash. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas will be at home at 119 West Fourth street until early next month. The Rev. Mr. Nelson, pastor of the Indianapolis Fourth Christian church, performed the ceremony.

In response to a request of the teachers of the Fairview school a number of patrons and friends met at the school building last Friday afternoon and perfected the organization of a Parent-Teacher Club with the following officers for the coming year:

President, Prof. E. E. Jeffrey; Vice-president, Mrs. Emma Creighton; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Eva Hinchman.

The object of the organization will be for the better understanding between parents and teachers and their co-operation in all work for the interest of the children, and to study the welfare of the child in home, school and community. Its membership is not limited to patrons alone but all who are interested in school and community are urged to attend.

The meetings will be held monthly at the school building, the first on Tuesday evening, October, 22d. The program will be carefully arranged. Papers and talks will be given on various interesting subjects to be followed by general discussions. Other literary and musical numbers will be a part of the programs to which all are welcome.

A pretty autumn wedding was celebrated Tuesday evening at 7:30 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Bartlett, in Lewisville, when Rev. Dalton Lewis of Dublin united in marriage Miss Helen Bartlett and Dwight L. Pottenger of Indianapolis, in the presence of over a hundred guests, says the Newcastle Courier. The house was handsomely decorated with the brilliant autumn foliage and a few vases of cut flowers. Preceding the ceremony Miss Grace Johnson and Mrs. Louis Hessler of Liberty, sang beautifully and Miss Lucile McIlvain, at the piano, played a program of bridal music, with Lohengrin's Wedding March for the entrance of the wedding party, which was led by the ribbon bearers, Miss Julia Boyd of Indianapolis, and Miss Jessie Anderson of Rushville. The bride was attended by Mrs. Kenneth Armstrong of Newcastle (as matron of honor), and Miss Louise Lewis of Connersville as bridesmaid. The groom's attendant was Mr. Harry Adams of Liberty.

The bridal gown was of handsome white crepe over silk, trimmed with shadowed lace, and the flowers carried were roses. It was a sweet sentiment of the bride's to wear a veil of white darned net, which has been an heirloom in the family for almost a hundred years. Mrs. Armstrong was gowned in white messaline and carried white chrysanthemums. The bridesmaid wore white net over yellow messaline and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Following the marriage service there was a reception during which Mr. and Mrs. Pottenger received the congratulations of the guests and light refreshments were served. Later the bride and groom left for Indianapolis, where they will reside. They will be at home after November 15 at their apartments in "The Grove."

Guests from out of town to attend the wedding included the following: Mr. and Mrs. Sam Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Jones, Misses Jessie, Bernice and Mary Anderson and Fannie Gray of Rushville; Mr. and Mrs. William Pottenger, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Shepherd, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hess, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stevens, Misses Ethel Lewis and Julia Boyd, and Mr. Geo. Cortelyou of Indianapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Foble, Mr. and Mrs. Worth Olwine of Greenville, O.; Mr.

and Mrs. Louis Lewis, Mr. John Straussler of Connersville; Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Manlove of Cambridge City; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Armstrong, Mrs. Woods, Messrs. Claude Bartlett and Vinton Hill of Newcastle; Mr. and Mrs. M. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. William Cory of Spiceland; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shepler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and Cecil Atkins of Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Lawrence of Cincinnati, O., and Dr. and Mrs. Walter B. Harvey of Pittsburg, Pa.

Parents of Mrs. John Meredith Pass Wedding Anniversary Today.

Today was the sixty-second anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Ephraim Pike of Spiceland, parents of Mrs. John Meredith of this city, a record of which few aged couples can brag. The day was not celebrated, Mr. and Mrs. Pike spending the day quietly at home. Two years ago, the occasion of their sixtieth anniversary, a family dinner was held, and all of the seven surviving children were present. Ten were born to Mr. and Mrs. Pike, and in addition they have living eighteen grandchildren and fifteen great grandchildren. Mr. Pike, who is eighty-nine years old, is in very feeble health. Mrs. Pike is in her eightieth year. They came here from North Carolina in 1851 and have been living near Spiceland since that time.

ITALIAN FINED.

Newcastle Courier: Augusta Mar, the Dunreith foreigner, who recently was accused of assault and battery on two women in the village, was brought into the court Wednesday to answer to two indictments brought by the grand jury. He pleaded guilty to both charges and was given a fine of $10 and costs in each case, on his promise that he would leave Dunreith as soon as he could draw his money.

The Republican drum corps will meet at headquarters tonight at six o'clock and go to Milroy for the speaking.

The Sable Lorcha

BY

Horace Hazeltine

(Copyright, 1912, A. C. McClurg & Co.)

I saw the captain start hurriedly toward the starboard rail, intent evidently on meeting the rabble which was approaching on that side, and I saw Hartley boldly block his way. And then, almost at the same instant, I saw a tall figure with naked torso as black and shining as polished ebony—black with grime and shining with sweat—come running backward around the corner of the deck house. Saw it with an iron bar held menacingly aloft against its pressing pursuers, and even in the uncertain light of the deck lanterns, recognized it at once, by its outline and the characteristic set of its head upon its shoulders, nude to the waist and collared as it was, as the figure of the man I sought.

"Cameron!" I cried, chokingly, my fast-beating heart crowding my utterance. And all unmindful of the dirt which covered him I flung my arms about his waist from behind. "Cameron! Cameron! Thank God! Thank God!"

I heard the iron bar drop resoundingly to the deck; I heard Hartley's voice raised in anger, strident, staccato; and I heard the receding shuffle of feet as those who had pursued now backed away. There followed then a moment of silence, while the body I had held twisted out of my arms, and having released itself, turned and faced me—a moment of silence, only, for against the sudden stillness there now rang out a weird, palpitant cry, born of surcharged emotion, as Cameron, casting himself forward into my arms, buried his face in the angle of my neck and shoulder.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

A Final Problem.

It is doubtful whether in all Egypt there was ever such another period of joyous thanksgiving as that which followed the bringing of Cameron to the little hotel in Port Said. I am inclined to question, too, whether in the space of a single waking day four persons ever talked more, or with more mutual interest, than did the four of us there gathered. The heat, the flies, the poor food, and the miserable accommodations, generally, were not merely gladly tolerated, but absolutely disregarded. In the exuberance of our rejoicing, annoyances which had loomed large on the preceding day dwindled to the imperceptible; and from early morning until late night experiences were exchanged, adventures told and speculations indulged in.

Washed, scrubbed, shaved, shorn and clad in raiment put at his disposal by the indefatigable Hartley, Cameron appeared wonderfully well-looking. Indeed I was amazed by his appearance and by his condition. I had feared to find him a mental and physical ruin. I had feared even for his life. And he had come to us, if we might judge by outward seeming, stronger, more robust, less nervously relaxed than when he disappeared.

"At first," he told us, as we sat at breakfast in a little upper room of the hotel, Evelyn close on his right, Dr. Addison at his left, and I opposite him, "I suppose I did suffer, whenever I was conscious, which, fortunately, I think, was comparatively seldom. They dosed me almost continuously with what I believe to have been some attribute of opium, so that even in my waking moments I was not wholly normal. In this way, of course, I lost all count of time. And so, too, I am unable to give events in sequence. My first conscious moment after being on the deck of the Sibylla found me snuggled in a narrow berth on a rapid, not rather rough-riding craft of apparently much smaller dimension than the yacht, and with a Chinese boy sitting beside me. You can fancy my startled amazement at the sudden transition. In vain I asked questions. In vain I struggled to rise. Then I shouted, and the Chinese boy lighted what appeared to be an ordinary joss-stick on a stand at the head of my berth, and withdrew from the tiny cabin. Insensibility followed quickly. After that I have a vague, dreamy recollection of eating something with a strange, spicy flavor, which seemed only to add to my stupor. Once I dreamed—at least I think it must have been a dream—that I was in a dark box, so cramped that my bones ached, and that far away above me were little holes through which the light came in luminous fan-like rays that glowed against the black."

"I'm inclined to think it was no dream," I put in, recalling the newspaper story I had read in my broker's office, in Wall street. "The probabilities are that you were shipped in that box from Fall River to New York, and a certain influential Chinaman, called Yup Sing, knew all about it."

"It's quite possible," Cameron went on. "I know that it was very difficult to distinguish, in those days, between dreams and realities. Eventually, however, I awoke to find myself on the Glamorganshire, quartered with the men in the fore-castle, a beard well grown and my clothes the coarsest sort of mariner's outfit. For a while I was far too ill for labor. The reaction from the drugs which had been administered caused me the keenest suffering. But, gradually, I came about, and was set to work with paint pot and brush. The humanity shown me at this time was surprising. I couldn't comprehend it. But I realized eventually that my strength was being fostered for future torment."

"Why didn't you explain, dear, to the captain?" Evelyn asked, with one of those bursts of naivete that contrasted so charmingly with her usually abounding good judgment.

Cameron smiled. "I couldn't get near the captain, my child," he returned, indulgently. "It wasn't because I didn't try. The officers ridiculed my assertions as pipe dreams, and when, at each port, I pleaded to be allowed to communicate with our consul, I was only kept under stricter guard."

And so his story continued, interrupted at intervals by questions from one or another of us, until we had the whole wretched tale of cruelty, including the final chapter which preceded the rescue.

When he learned that every stoker and trimmer, save himself, had been ordered on deck, still hoping against hope that the outside world had at length been moved to intercession in his behalf, he demanded to be allowed to go with the rest. And when his demand was refused he rebelled, fighting his way to liberty with an iron bar from a cinder-tub, which he had purposely concealed for such emergency.

I have no inclination to test patience by detailing all the events and recording all the dialogue of that happy day. Much that happened and much that was said I must leave to the imagination of those that read. But I cannot refrain from the statement that Cameron's meeting and reconciliation with his old friend Dr. Addison was one of the brightest spots in a delectable constellation. The meeting between Evelyn and her uncle was an episode, too, to touch the sensibility of the most apathetic. And if there had lingered a single doubt as to the wisdom or expediency of accepting their companionship on my expedition of rescue it must have been dispelled by the emotional thrill which these scenes provoked.

(Advertisement.)

Our homeward voyage, which all of us were anxious should not be delayed, was by way of Naples. Hartley, who appeared to be able to go and come as he pleased, accompanied us that far, and our farewells to him, on the deck of the Koenig Albert, were combined with a fervor of gratitude that exhausted our powers of expression.

Evelyn begged me to be permitted to kiss him good-bye, but there I was forced to draw the line. Her caresses in my own direction had not, up to that moment, been so lavish that I felt I could spare any of them, even for this young Englishman, notwithstanding my abundant appreciation of the inestimable service he had rendered, and that was precisely what I told her, when on the first evening out, she had demanded to know my reasons for refusal.

"You're a very selfish man," she retorted, with a pout. "And I'm not at all sure, now, that I shall ever kiss you again. Besides—" And there she stopped.

We had reached the after end of the deck in our post-dinner promenade, and had paused there, leaning on the rail, to watch the phosphorescent gleam and glitter among the turbulent white wake-waters. Cameron and Dr. Addison were talking over their cigars in steamer chairs amidships, and the girl and I were alone together for the first time since her uncle's restoration.

"Besides?" I repeated, questioning. The big blue eyes she turned to me were never more roguish.

"Besides," she said, low-voiced and with a just perceptible quiver, "unt," you keep your promise, I don't see that you have any right to dictate to me."

I knew very well what she meant. Ever since Cameron had come running backward around that deck-house corner—I think even at the minute I recognized his naked, smut-covered shoulders—I had had that promise in mind, and had longed for the moment of its fulfillment. But till now not even the briefest opportunity had offered. Nevertheless, her present mood was too entirely winsomely lovable to be neglected, and the impulse to prolong it by teasing too strong for resistance.

"Keep my promise?" I queried, mingling with assumed perplexity a certain suggestion of injury. "Have I ever failed you in anything?"

She turned away now, silently, and the eclipse of the eyes I loved left me suddenly repentant; still I persisted.

"Have I ever failed you?" I asked again.

Quickly her gaze came back, and her eyes had taken something of the cold, snapping fire of the phosphorus.

"Since you don't remember," she said, "it's of no consequence. Only you were so sure that you couldn't forget."

"Give me a hint," I begged, still cruel. "When did I promise?"

"I couldn't be so unkindly," was her retort, looking away again.

"Was it before we came over here, or since?"

"Before," after a pause.

"Long before?"

"Not very."

"Where? At your house?"

"Yes."

"In the library?" I asked, with a glance behind for possible intruders.

She turned quickly and found me laughing.

"Oh, you dear, silly, lovable, delightful child!" I cried, and the echo of my words was carried far astern, as my arms went about her and held her close, and my kisses fell thick and fast on her ripe, tender little mouth.

"What need had I to keep such a promise?" I asked, when in mercy I paused that she might get her breath.

"Why should I ask you to tell me that you loved me, when I could read it in letters as long as your glances and as bright as your smile?"

And if we left Cameron and Dr. Addison much alone together during our homeward voyage, who that still remembers their own happy days of young love dreaming can blame us?

For a long while there remained in my mind as legacy from the strange case of Cameron and the Sable Lorcha a seemingly insoluble problem. On our return to America, my friend, in spite of all my urging, refused, with stubborn persistence, it seemed to me, to aid in the prosecution of those who, we knew positively, were implicated in the affair. Concerning Murphy, Yup Sing and a score or more of their satellites we could have produced evidence of the most damaging character. But Cameron was not so minded. He even went so far as to discourage my appearance against the former for complicity in the plot to take captive Evelyn and myself on the night of our Pell street visit. Indeed I have always believed that through O'Hara he was instrumental in securing Murphy's release.

And I know for a fact that he provided so generously for the young French driver of the electric brougham, who was so badly injured in that Pell street adventure, that the fellow returned to France a month before the trial of his assailant.

All these things, I say, continued to puzzle and disquiet me, long after the sharp edges of rancorous remembrance had been worn away. And invariably at such times there would recur recollections of those early days of the threatening letters and of that elusive something in Cameron's manner which I was never quite able to comprehend or explain.

The true interpretation was reserved for the night preceding my marriage with Evelyn, which, by the way, had, at her guardian's wish, been delayed for nearly a year because of what he chose to regard as her unseemly youth. The celebration was to take place at Cragholt and the house was already filled with kinfolk and intimate friends, including most of the wedding party.

It was after midnight, and Cameron and I were alone together in his mahogany and green study; he at his writing table and I in the same adjacent leather chair in which I had sat a twelvemonth ago while listening to the story of the incised portrait.

As was not unusual we had reverted to that time and to certain of the incidents therewith connected; and I had been trying to make clear to Cameron, as I had already frequently tried to do, the peculiar difference between McNish's expression and his.

"In individual feature," I said, warming to my subject, "there never was in all the world before, I believe, such similarity. And in repose, the ensemble, I should say, was equally identical. But when it came to—"

And there Cameron checked me. "Clyde," and his tone was strangely grave, it seemed to me, "you'll pardon my interrupting you, I know. I understand what you would say, probably better than I could from your putting it into words. And I want to tell you why I understand. Indeed I've wanted to tell you for a long while, but whenever I've got to the verge of it, I have balked."

He paused here to shake the ash from his cigar, reaching across his desk for a receptacle, and somehow the gesture reminded me of that of McNish as he had thrown out his arm which held the letter, and so exposed the telltale tattooing.

"I have never told you, Clyde," he resumed, his eyes turned on the glowing tobacco ember which he had just bared, "anything about my birth or my family. But now that you are to become one of us, in a way, it's only fair that you should know; for though Evelyn's mother was but my half-sister, still the girl gets the same blood through her grandsire."

"Yes," I said. "I know that. Evelyn told me that much. I know, too, that you were born in Scotland; and the very name of Cameron is a pretty good guarantee of family worth."

"My father belonged to a rather poor branch," he confessed, "and like many poor men he had a large number of children. There were ten, all told, and when my poor mother died, it became a serious problem how to take care of my little ones. I was among the youngest, not over seven, and I had a twin brother."

As he said this Cameron, who had been desultorily drawing figures on his writing pad with the end of a penholder, abruptly shot his gaze to mine and caught the quick question of my eyes.

"Yes," he said, without change of tone, "yes, you see, now, don't you?"

"McNish!" I murmured.

"McNish," he echoed. "Donald McNish."

"But," I began, "I don't quite—" and I thought of the letter from McNish's mother.

"Oh, it is clear enough," he went on. "Some of the children were put out to live amongst neighbors, and eventually, my father and the rest of us came to this country. The others he left behind, promising to send each month the money for their keep. Donald he left with a couple named McNish, who had no bairns of their own, and when the boy grew to be a big lad, and my father, who in the meantime had been successful here and married again, sent for him to come to America, word came back that he had been dead a twelvemonth."

"And your father believed it?"

"Oh, yes, for they returned the back pay he had forwarded, and sent a lock of my brother's hair, I think, and a trinket or two that had been his as a kiddie."

"Afterwards, though, you learned that he was still alive?"

"No," was Cameron's answer. "We never heard. Had it not been for that marked resemblance gathering me in to the net spread for him, I should probably never have known. And, Clyde," he added, "ever since I learned of his having been there, in town, I have been wondering. Do you think it possible that he ever realized that he was in his brother's house?"

"Hardly," I said. "It doesn't seem likely, though; unless the name and the—He must—Oh, certainly," I stammered, "he must have realized that we mistook him for—yes, for some one named Cameron. He answered to it readily enough; he even insisted that he was Cameron. And if his mind was clear enough to put two and two together, why, knowing that he had a twin brother in America, it would seem—"

And there I stopped my floundering, for Cameron had risen to his feet, and smiling, tolerantly, was waving a hushing hand at me.

"Yes, yes," he said, "I've argued it all out in just the same way, dear friend. And yet we never can be certain, can we? Only I have thought, if he might have realized it, and have been able to have played the part, and stayed, and taken up my life and lived it for the rest of his, I might have gone on and taken his punishment to some purpose. For I have had more than my share of the good things, Clyde, and maybe if poor little Donnie had had even half my chances, it would all have been so very, very different."

He still thought of him as the child brother he had parted from long years ago in Scotland, and as such he would ever remember him. I was glad then that he had stopped me when I had tried to draw for him the difference in their faces. For it was such a difference! Looking at Cameron now with the lamp of true greatness alight behind those plain features, I marveled that I could even have seen a vestige of likeness in the brutal, soulless face of his twin brother.

And then, for the first time, too, I really understood.

THE END

TAGGART COLLAR IS WORN BY RALSTON

Political Record of Democratic Candidate Shows Close Relation to Brewery Machine.

S. M. Ralston is reported as having said in a speech at Salem, Ind.:

"I learn that Mr. Beveridge pointed out in effect why I should not be made Governor of Indiana because of my relation with certain men whom he denominates as bosses. This is legitimate argument, and I take no exception to it. If Mr. Beveridge can point out to the people of Indiana that a relationship ever existed between me and any man, or combination of men, in this State or elsewhere, that would make it unwise for the voters of Indiana to support my candidacy, it is his duty to do so. I go further than that. If there is a voter in the State of Indiana who knows that I sustain a relationship with any man, or combination of men, that would be likely, in his judgment, to influence me against the public welfare, in the event that I am made Governor, it is his duty as a citizen to withhold his support from me."

The people generally remember well the methods which were used by the Crawford Fairbanks-Tom Taggart brewery machine to force every aspirant for the Democratic nomination for Governor out of the way in the interest of Mr. Ralston's candidacy. The last to be forced out was John W. Boehne, Congressman from the First District, who as Mayor of Evansville, had compelled the breweries and the saloons to obey the law. Crawford Fairbanks did not want him. He usually knows the men, he selects the favor and has a fair idea as to what they are likely to do if elected. Remembering these things, thousands of Democrats would have gone quietly at the polls and voted against Ralston without any noise about it beforehand. But here Ralston proposes a direct challenge. He can only be judged by his record, by the past. Thus we must form our belief as to what he will do. Judging by his past record, it will be worth about a million dollars to French Lick as the new state capital and about that to the lawless brewery machine to have Sam Ralston in the Governor's chair.

"I am and have always been a party man," said Ralston. That statement is incorrect. Mr. Ralston has not been a party man, but a machine man, always. His allegiance to Thomas Taggart and his machine has always been greater than his allegiance to the Democratic party. He has not served the interests of the masses of the Democratic party. He has been ever ready to override the will of the majority of the Democrats of Indiana to serve the will of a small and mercenary minority representative of the machine. Can he point to a single instance wherein he has ever opposed the wishes of Fairbanks and Taggart? Can he point to a single instance wherein in any important matter he has ever had a policy, a thought, or a principle of his own? Has he not drawn his political life and being for years from Taggart? Has he not been Taggart's messenger boy, willing to perform the most menial and degraded services at the behest of the boss? Can he show a solitary instance where in personal gratitude for past favors was ever evidenced by him, provided that his master forbade it? Has he not turned down his friends and consorted with his personal enemies at the mandate of Taggart? Can any one doubt, can Ralston deny that in case of a vacancy in a United States Senatorship he would appoint to the United States Senate the man who got 21 voters outside of the stolen Marion County delegation in opposition to Kern?

Democrats who have suffered all kinds of frauds, intimidation, remember these things too well to be killing to accept Ralston's explanation. He would not be the real Governor if elected. The real Governor would be Taggart, the sub-boss, the lieutenant of Crawford Fairbanks, king of the Democratic party of Indiana. The proscription of all who will not wear the collar is notorious. No matter what services one has performed for the Democratic party, nothing counts in Indiana under this despotism except wearing the collar of faithful servility to the machine. No better example of this servility can be found than Ralston.

If the people of Indiana want to place servility before ability, if they want to condone the methods of terrorism and thuggery which have made the name "Indiana Democrat" a badge of servitude the country over, they should elect Sam Ralston.

But if the example of Governor Wilson in smashing the New Jersey machine is to be simulated, it would be kindness to themselves and to the future of the Democratic party in Indiana for Indiana Democrats to refuse to ratify and condone the debauched methods which made Sam Ralston the candidate for Governor of Indiana.

Would Ralston, if elected Governor, use his influence in favor of an effective precinct primary election law? He would hardly favor a measure which would destroy the Fairbanks-Taggart machine. He would probably remember the scriptural injunction "Remember thy creator." The whole power of the Governor's office would be used to strengthen the machine and its despotic authority.

THE BALKAN STORM GAINING INTENSITY

Bulgaria Has Declared War On Turkey.

London, Oct. 17.—According to dispatches received here from Sofia, Bulgaria has declared war against Turkey. The reports are unconfirmed as yet, but as an indication of their probable truth dispatches from Constantinople tell of the departure from the capitals of Greece, Bulgaria and Servia of the Turkish ministers accredited to them. The Constantinople dispatches add that the Ottoman representatives did not even ask for their passports, the omission being made purposely as an affront to the allies.

The Ottoman government characterizes as "insolent" the representatives of the allies calling upon the porte for reforms in Macedonia, and has given the governments signing the note twenty-four hours in which to apologize for it.

Greece's demand for the release of the Greek vessels seized by Turkey was entirely ignored by the sultan's government.

Dispatches from Podgoritz, the base of one of the Montenegrin armies of invasion, announce that General Martinovitch has captured Mt. Monich, a fortified post opposite Tara-kash.

The northern Montenegrin army has retaken Berana. The Turks were driven out after two days' fighting, and, according to the dispatches, which come from Montenegrin sources, lost 700 prisoners besides fourteen guns and large amounts of supplies.

Turko-Italian War Ended.

Geneva, Oct. 17.—The treaty of peace between Italy and Turkey will be signed tomorrow morning. The delegates are preparing the legal letters for the exchanges.

WHAT IT MEANS

Conclusion of Peace Treaty May Affect New Complication.

Paris, Oct. 17.—The conclusion of peace between Turkey and Italy has caused a feeling of general relief, as it removes the grave possibility of complications arising out of the Balkan crisis. It leaves Turkey free to prosecute war with her neighbors and enables Italy to take her place in the concert of the powers.

The great European nations under the leadership of France are exerting every effort to localize the conflict, which momentarily threatens to become general along the frontiers of Bulgaria, Servia, Montenegro and Greece.

The powers thus far remain firm in their determination not to allow any change in the territorial situation in the Balkans when the war is over, no matter what may be its result. At the same time they call on Turkey to carry out the promised reforms.

THE RED SOX ARE GIANTS' MASTERS

CHAMPIONS OF THE DIAMOND

In a Bitterly Fought Battle For the Deciding Game in the Wonderful Series, the Opposing Teams Run the Game Over into Ten Innings, Maintaining the Interest Right Up to the Very Last Moment.

Batteries—Mathewson, Meyers; Bedient, Wood and Cady.

Boston, Oct. 17.—In a ten-inning contest the Boston Red Sox beat the New York Giants by a score of 3 to 2 and thus became the champions of the diamond world. The championship became theirs in the most teeming and spectacular of all world's series, a series which included eight games and was won by four games to three. But the final defeat was bitter. Mathewson, the wonderful veteran, pitched gamely and effectively.

With the game in the Giants' grasp all Matty wanted was good support to insure victory. But he did not get it. A muffed fly by Snodgrass and the failure of either of two men, Merkle and Meyers, to take a foul fly which was easy to catch were misplays in the final inning which brought defeat to the Giants and victory to the Red Sox.

With all the mistakes in fielding that the Giants made and occasional other mistakes, the success won by the Red Sox was over a hardy, aggressive and courageous rival. Before they frittered the game away, however, the Giants did a good deal of sharp fielding in pinches and helped Mathewson to return the Bostonians to the field scoreless.

It was not until a pinch hitter, Hendricksen, was brought in that the Red Sox were able to hurl a run across the plate. Their first tally was due to a two-bagger by Hendricksen. Hendricksen's hit tied the score in the seventh inning and sent in a man who had reached a base because an outfield ball was allowed to fall uncaptured.

Wood succeeded Bedient in the eighth inning and was rapped for an earned run in the tenth. Bedient was hit hard, but kept the hits scattered. It was Murray who batted in New York's first run, and it was Murray who made a two-bagger in the tenth and made the second run on a hit by Merkle.

Profits of the Game.

The attendance was 17,034; receipts, $30,590; national commission's share, $3,056; each club's share, $13,725. Each club's share of the whole series was $147,028.85.

The national commission's share, $49,083.36.

The total players' share, derived from the first four games only, $147,471.69.

Boston players, as winners, share 60 per cent, or $88,543.01.

New York players, as losers, share $59,028.69.

Each Red Sox player, of whom twenty-two were eligible, receives $4,024.68.

Each Giant player, of whom twenty-three were eligible, receives $2,566.46.

The figures in every case are greater than those for any previous world's series.

As soon as the winning run was scored Manager McGraw of the Giants made a bee line for the Red Sox bench to congratulate Manager Stahl. McGraw had taken defeat in a sportsmanlike manner and was about to offer his hand to the Boston leader, when a rowdy, stepping up behind McGraw, pushed him so hard that McGraw almost fell into the Red Sox pit. This treatment quickly riled McGraw, who turned upon his assailant and dealt him a stinging blow on the nose. A big crowd of Boston rooters promptly sided with the New York manager, who then shook hands with Stahl, and said:

"You've won the world series, and I wish you luck. We made errors that were fatal, but that is baseball, as you know. It has been a great series, but I am glad that it is over. The strain on my players was beginning to tell." McGraw, however, as he walked away after congratulating Stahl, showed that he was bitterly disappointed.

The Giants were a gloomy lot as they realized that they had been beaten out of the lion's share of the coin. Snodgrass looked as if he had lost his last friend on earth. He said he could not account for his miff of Engle's wallow. He declared that he judged the ball perfectly, but somehow the leather twisted out of his glove just as he was convinced that he had it cinched. Chief Meyers said that Mathewson deserved to win, for he showed his best quality and worked like a Trojan.

When Yerkes scored the winning run on Gardner's long fly to Devore the crowd jumped out of the stands and rushed for the Boston bench. Yerkes, Speaker, Stahl, Lewis, Wood, Engle and others of the Red Sox were hugged and kissed by frenzied men. The new world's champions struggled through the mob to their bench, where 5,000 Hub fans gave three cheers and a tiger for each member of the victorious team.

MEXICO STIRRED BY A NEW REVOLUTION

Nephew of Diaz Now in Rebellion.

Tampico, Mexico, Oct. 17.—The nephew of former President Diaz, Colonel Felix Diaz, is in complete possession of Vera Cruz, the most important port in the republic of Mexico, and has raised a new standard of rebellion. Diaz has proclaimed himself commander-in-chief of all the rebel forces in Mexico, with the title of general. Nearly the entire state of Vera Cruz has gone over to young Diaz.

Before 6 o'clock last evening every federal soldier in the city garrison, the police department, port hospital corps and firemen and more than a thousand new volunteers had enlisted and taken the oath of allegiance under Diaz. In all, the new revolutionary leader has more than 2,000 men under his banner in Vera Cruz alone. It is the most serious insurrection that has broken out in Mexico since Madero overthrew the government of the present rebel leader's uncle. Diaz appears to be in constant communication with the other rebel leaders throughout Mexico.

Many Witnesses Called in the Dynamite Trial.

STENOGRAPHERS ON THE STAND

Among the Many Persons Connected With the Iron Workers' Union Called by the Government to Testify Concerning Letters, Telegrams and Other Documents, Were a Couple of Young Woman of Union's Office.

Indianapolis, Oct. 17.—The time of the federal court continues to be taken up with identification of letters, telegrams and documents from the offices of the iron workers or brought here by witnesses under subpoenas. The examination of Miss Haley, stenographer to John J. McNamara, was completed last evening, but the cross-examination went over till today on request of the attorneys for the defense. Among the witnesses were local officers of the iron workers' unions in various parts of the country and a number of letters passing between them and President Ryan were identified. The first of these was Thomas Burk, former business agent of local No. 60, at Buffalo. Burk had been ordered to produce copies of certain correspondence. He testified that he had made search for this, but had not been able to find it. Burk, however, identified an exhibit of the government as being a letter written to Ryan at his direction. He also identified a carbon copy of another letter as being a copy of the reply he had received.

Miss Jessie Minnick, from October, 1907, to May, 1908, a stenographer at the union's offices, also was used as a witness to identify a number of letters, among these being letters from Webb and Farrell of New York; also several letters dictated to her by J. J. McNamara. On one of the Farrell letters was the indorsement "ex board," which Miss Minnick testified was in the handwriting of J. J. McNamara.

United States Senator John W. Kern thus far in the progress of the dynamite conspiracy case in federal court has done nearly all the questioning of witnesses on cross-examination by the defense, and it is said that Kern is to continue to do the major part of the court work for the defense. With only three or four exceptions, all the one hundred and twenty-five witnesses used by the government in the first two weeks of the trial have been cross-examined by Senator Kern. About 450 government witnesses are yet to be called.

That he has been doing more work and is to do more than he expected when he entered the case, is admitted by Senator Kern.

BROUGHT BACK

Man Wanted at Shirley For Murder Five Years Ago Found at Cincinnati.

Greensburg, Ind., Oct. 17.—Joe Hicks, who was arrested at Cincinnati for the murder of Oscar Martin at Shirley, five years ago, has been returned here by Sheriff Cox. According to the sheriff, Hicks made a confession in which he said he was guilty of the murder. Hicks said after leaving Indiana he went to Louisville and remained there until a few days ago, when he went to Cincinnati, where he was arrested at the home of his brother-in-law. He was known as Tillman Gray. At the time the murder was committed a reward of $1,000 was offered for the arrest of Hicks. Since then the town of Shirley has become a city, the town council has been abolished and the reward withdrawn, so the Cincinnati detectives will obtain nothing for their work.

Victim of Accidental Shot.

Snoddy Trial in November.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 17.—The fourth trial of William Snoddy, charged with whitecapping, has been set for Nov. 18. He is a brother of Tobe Snoddy, convicted of the same offense some time ago. Three special attorneys have been engaged by the state to assist in the prosecution.

Sentence Was Reserved.

Anderson, Ind., Oct. 17.—Charles Zinn, aged twenty-three, was found guilty in the circuit court on a statutory charge filed against him because of his marriage to his half-sister, Miss Ethel Zinn, aged nineteen, on Sept. 12. The court reserved sentence.

Pioneer Succumbs to Gas.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 17.—Mrs. Rachel Sellers, aged eighty-one, a pioneer of Bremen, was killed by gas while dressing at the home of her grandson here. A pulmoner was used two hours without success.

SOME PREACHERS FIGHT FOR THE GET COLD FEET RIBBONS KEEN

intending to preach the truth when some old society dame, who runs the church, comes in and sits on the front seat and the preacher gets cold feet and leaves that part of his sermon out. But Jesus didn't. He put it all in. He asked her for a drink of water and then among other things he said to her "If thou knowest the gift of God and who it is that saith unto thee 'Give Me to Drink' thou wouldst have asked of Him and He would have given thee living water."

"It is this life, my brother—the life that Jesus came to give, that you need; and you need it not only because eternity is coming, but for what it will mean to you in the life that now is."

"There are two things which this life that Jesus came to give will do for every man who has it. 'It will put a new meaning upon the life you are living now. It would change life from a mere existence, from a mere career to be run through with and then done with into a glorious mission with a holy purpose. It would change death from a 'fearful leap into the darkness' which Infidel Hobbes said he was taking, into a golden gateway, which opens upon greener fields than earth has ever known into another life of unspeakable and illimitable beauty."

"You say you want to live simply to enjoy life. All right. Young man, you say you want to enjoy life and you start out to enjoy it. You take a night key—by the way, fathers and mothers, that's the way you encourage your boy in his first steps to hell when you let him carry a night key or set the lock so he can come in when he pleases. Oh, I know you say, 'He's only at the club,' and maybe he is. But that 'club's' only a place where he plays cards and drinks and goes to the devil."

"Night the first: A theatre where respectable women don't go. 'Night the second: public dance with its seductive abandon."

"Night the third: Possibly the house of shame; and you come forth with your companions and you say, 'My, but isn't this life,' but God says it's death."

"Young woman, you say you'll enjoy life and after one long round of joy unconfined you come forth night after night, eyes sparkling, face all flushed, blood all warm, and you say, 'My, but isn't this life,' but God says it's death."

"Oh, but you say, I don't care for that. I want money and the honor it brings, and somebody else says, I don't care for money; I want the plaudits of the world—and so one lives for pleasure and the other for the money and the other for the praise of man. But that's not life and if living like that satisfies you, you've got one of the most dried up, shriveled up, parsimonious, cadaverous souls God Almighty ever made."

"There is another thing that this life that Jesus came to give will do; and that is to put a new meaning on death. Men don't shrink from death because they fear there is no hereafter. Man has always believed in the immortality of the soul, and he always will. It is an instinct of the soul itself. The darkest minded heathen has it—the most highly civilized has it—you have it."

"But there is another fact equally as certain as immortality and that is that every man will not share alike when he is done with the life he is living now. If there is no hell, then God has gone to a lot of trouble to save us from it."

siderable numbers of patients there will be additional room provided for unfortunates who are now confined in jails and poor houses in their respective counties. The farm plan for the care of the insane, though altogether new in Indiana and the middle west, has been tried in Massachusetts with satisfactory results.

Possibly the Indiana plan, as it will become known, will be the most comprehensive system of the kind that has been attempted anywhere and the principal features have been decided on only after several years of consideration. In the belief of Dr. Smith the plan will be a success on economical lines as well as from the humanitarian viewpoint.
